NEED OF AIR FORCE

The latest military developments indicate that a country without military airplanes is at the mercy of the aggressor. Ethiopia was so situated. In Spain the majority of the planes are in the service of the Fascists.

On this coast just now there are practically no defences which would amount to anything in time of war. There is a good basis for the development of naval and military Philadelphia units but the military has no guns and the navy has no boats.

While it is hardly within the scope of a newspaper to pose as military expert or to suggest what might be done, it seems apparent to everyone that at Prince Rupert there should be a naval base with at least one defence ship stationed here, preferably a submarine or a small fleet of submarines. There should also be a fort with anti-aircraft PHONE-957 guns for the protection of the port. Adding to that and most important of all should be a fleet of planes, trained in defensive tactics to co-operate with the navy and military forces in case of attack.

Looking across the Pacific today we see what Japan is Bor doing to China, just because China is weak with hardly any defences. Any power might be doing the same to Bri- Boi tish Columbia, for the coast is undefended.

It has been the custom in the past to make Halifax the centre of military and naval activity. Halifax is close to Ru Great Britain and could quickly call on the British Navy for help. British Columbia is a long way from Europe and Pri would have to struggle for herself in case of attack by an enemy.

It is all very well for Canada to say she has no enemies. sir Just now there may easily develop a difference with Japan over the fisheries. Other differences may arise in T-1 which a defenceless nation has no hope against a militarized power. The British Navy is powerful and would La doubtless come to our aid but a hostile power would be ve likely to take advantage of a time when Britain needed every ship and every man in Europe.

VIMY PICTURES

The story of Vimy was told in the Daily News last eve- per lb. ning in the report of the address of Norman Watt. It was told again at the Presbyterian Church last night by School -Inspector Hall but at the theatre last evening pictures were shown of the actual proceedings and the voice of the King was heard as he addressed those present at the formal opening. Those who have heard and read the story of the Vimy ceremony should not fail to see the pictures tonight.

The whole program at the theatre tonight is above the average, the feature play, "Little Lord Fauntleroy" being one that appeals to old and young. It is an encouragement to the management to bring good pictures if the people turn out in large numbers to show their appreciation and enjoy the high class entertainment.

Official Visit To Oddfellows

Important Event For Local Lodge This Week With Grand Master Of Province Attending

An event of importance to the local Oddfellows' Lodge this week was the official visit of the Grand! Master for British Columbia, John E. Fitzwater of Kamloops, which took place Tuesday night. It was one of the best attended meetings of the lodge in a long time. The third degree was conferred upon a candidate. Mr Fitzwater, in an address, discussed affairs of the lodge and spoke of the work at Tranquille Sanitarium which was founded originally by the Oddfellows' Lodge, long since, of course, having been taken over by the provincial government.

On Monday night there was a reception and supper in honor of Mr. Fitzwater, who was accompanied on the trip by his wife. Rebekahs were invited to join the Oddfellows and about sixty were present. Charles Harradine, noble grand, was in the chair and Mr Fitzwater gave an address.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzwater left on Wednesday evening's train for Terrace and are also visiting Smithers and Prince George on their way back to Kamloops.

Notes of Gladness

The full scale of enjoyment in "rolling-your-own" is yours from the first-when you roll them with Ogden's Fine Cut.

There are no bars to smoking pleasure in this fragrant, satisfying cigarette tobacco-it's the smoothest and coolest fine cut that ever stepped up to a light. And no matter how many times you "play" Ogden's, morning to night, you'll be satisfied. Particularly if you use the right accompaniment in papers -"Chantecler" or "Vogue".

That purple easy-opening ribbon on the Ogden's package is another note you'll like!
