ALBERTA'S EXPERIMENT

In spite of all the guitans at the expense of Premier Abernart of Aiverta it seems that Social Credit is to be ly the whole territory along the or the pronunciation of the word aged 90, Colonel Billopp was one of the 55 petitried out in that province. The details of the plan are about completed. The populace is about to be registered and it is announced that payment of dividends will commence very soon after the registration is completed in watchful eye of the Rangers. They he was worth a smillion dollars cembly and council of New Bruns- on an old tombstone: September or early in October.

They also must agree to make no demand for payment in cash nor to tender Alberta credit in payment of provincial taxes until such time as the government is ready to accept it. In return for this the provincial government promises to establish and maintain the price of Al- trate McClymont in city police berta-made goods to the retailers by granting interest- court yesterday afternoon and adfree loans in Alberta credit and to assist in importing wired to seek work or leave town. goods not made in Alberta.

Payment of the periodic dividends is to be made by depositing with the state credit house to be established, a certain amount of credit for each individual. Persons with credit will have issued to them a book of non-negotiable certificates with which commodities may be purchased.

The whole scheme seems rather complicated but that is no reason why it may not work. As has often been said, the whole country will await the outcome of the experiment with great interest. We would not like to suggest that it will succeed neither should we be justified in guessing that it will fail. A year from now we may still be wondering whether the plan is successful or not.

VANCOUVER'S POSITION

Vancouver is having a big jubilee celebration and has already been boasting of how much the city has benefitted financially from the event. The only fly in the ointment is that they are still short of money to complete the celebra- sacrificing factory samples. 10- ington is completing hydrographic tion as planned. They turn to the provincial government and ask to be helped. That means Vancouver wants Prince Rupert, Prince George, Nelson, Nanaimo and every other part of the province to help finance a jubilee which is benefitting Vancouver greatly but from which no outside point receives any appreciable benefit. That is the Vancouver spirit. Get all the benefits and make the other people pay.

Young Guardians of Forests Doing Good in Small Communities Of Central Interior

VICTORIA, Aug. 6:- In the little communities of British Columbia, west of Prince George, boys and girls known none of the delights of city amusements and they have to make their own fun. Out of this necessity has come a unique young people's movement to which the provincial forestry service attaches great importance - the Young Ranger Bands, who have taken upon themselves the job of guarding British Columbia's for-

E. C. Manning, chief forester who has just erturned from a tour of the central portions of the province and was initiated as an honorary member of the movement, said he did not believe any thing quite like the Ranger Bands existed elsewhere.

A member of a Ranger Band belongs to a secret society, full of a rich symbolism which is built on forestry lore. The meetings are held in secret, with pass words and elaborate ritual, all representative of the forest. Thus the "Pine" Tree," the "Cedar Tree" and the 'Spruce Tree" are high officials of the lodge.

Solemn Vow

Each member, like members adult lodges, takes a vow on entering the band. He promises to protect British Columbia's great natural heritage, the forest, by every means in his power. This oath is taken with earnestness and carried uot, Mr. Manning says, in a very useful fashion.

$5.00 | Several times when forest fires .10 have broken out near their homes the Young Rangers have gone in-3.00 to action and extinguished them 9.00 before they could grow to dangerous proportions. All the Rangers of course, use extreme caution with fire in the woods themselves when they are camping.
