

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Many Canadian Boats Land Halibut—North Sea Now at Ketchikan—Cardena Late Again

The Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Sea, which went ashore on Marsh Point, Prince of Wales Island, Thursday morning, being badly holed, arrived at Ketchikan early this morning. She had been beached temporarily at Hunter's Bay following stranding for pumping and patching of a gaping hole in her port bow. Some of the passengers were transferred by the coastguard cutter Alert to the steamer Victoria. Others remained on board the North Sea until she arrived at Ketchikan. The North Sea will proceed to Seattle for permanent repairs on dry dock. It is announced. Weary and unshaven, Capt. A. W. Nickerson docked the crippled North Sea at Ketchikan at 2 a.m., forty-seven hours after the vessel had grounded in soupy fog. In contrast with the tired captain, according to reports received today, were 29 laughing and singing passengers of the 143 who originally sailed north from Seattle. The remainder, bound for northern points, had been transferred to the steamer Victoria or landed at their destinations by the Alert.

The Letter Box

COMMUNISTS HEARD FROM

Editor, Daily News:—
In your editorial in your issue of May 15 entitled "Building a Country" you make some very pointed statements against Communists that I would like to correct. You accused them of trying to pull down what others build. Further than that you insinuate underhand methods are used. The Communist Party of Canada is sincere in its efforts to improve the living standard of workers in every walk of life. If you consider this an ulterior motive then all I can say is we plead guilty.

Why not come out in the open, Mr. Editor, and substantiate the charges that you make with some concrete evidence?

The Communists whom you so fondly rave about have shown to the rest of the world that, far from being destructive, they are progressive when unfettered by capitalism.

Your paper supposedly caters to the general public. Why cannot that same general public be the judges on this subject? I myself, on behalf of the Prince Rupert section of the Communist Party of Canada, challenge you to prove the statements referred to in your paper and in justice to the party that we represent this is the least that we can expect.

R. R. WEBSTER,
Secretary,
Prince Rupert Section,
Communist Party of Canada

NOT LOWEST TENDER

Editor, Daily News:—
I wish to draw your attention to an item which appeared in your newspaper of recent date, wherein you state that Mr. Bryant, whose tender of $29.00 per suit was the lowest, was given the order by the city to supply seven uniforms for the local firemen. In this regard, I would like to state that the writer submitted a tender of $25.75 per suit. Perhaps the purchasing agent might be able to explain this discrepancy.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

RESPECTS TO EVANS

Smithers Editor is Rather Critical in Regard to Communist Agitator

Bold and Blatant

Merely Exploiting Those Whose Cause He Proposes to Espouse

Arthur Evans, Communist agitator, who visited and spoke in Smithers recently, did not create a very favorable impression upon L. B. Warner, editor of the Interior News at Smithers, who had the following caustic remarks to make about Mr. Evans editorially:

"Preaching a gospel of destruction, bold and blatant Arthur H. Evans held forth in Smithers last Wednesday. Under auspices, or at least passive goodwill, of the C.C.F., he was to tell a story of downtrodden humanity as represented by the young men in the relief camps. Through the part he played in the famous Ottawa trek of unemployed last year, Mr. Evans attracted a large number anxious to peek at any new sensation, and a number of them shovelled into the collection boxes in bulk that meant depriving their children. Most of them, however, who came to hear a notable, remained for a time to listen to a curiosity.

"Mr. Evans' contribution, or diatribe, was a disappointment to many who had been delving into the virtue of slight changes in our system and the cause lost through the nonsense spewed by the self-styled martyr.

"There are few who will not sympathize with the lot of the young men who took part in the Ottawa march, and their sympathy will be deep compared to Evans and his ilk, who must live on the necessity of workers and wants to keep them in want as a means to his own end.

"Juts as maggots must have purification to thrive, so must the Communist have distress to get a hearing in any land.

"The young men were in camps under military organization, and everybody knows that such soul-destroying conditions should not exist. The worst news nickel-collecting Communists have had in several years is the action of the Liberal government at Ottawa in closing the camps and taking these young men for work of a constructive public nature at a fair wage.

Self Centered Talk

"But instead of telling the troubles of the young men caught in the net of depression, with bleakest outlook, Evans spent over an hour in a talk that sizzled with self pity and his own personal troubles with Premier R. B. Bennett. "So what a martyr I am," was his finest facial expression. For the greater part of his address, Evans was self-centered—the unfortunate youths were a matter for but secondary consideration.

"But Mr. Evans got the dough. He demanded a paper money collection first; then he called for a silver contribution, his appeal for labor rising to strongest heights when he asked and demanded that the yokels come through with all the silver they had, and it is not likely that by the time Mr. Evans gets along the road, living in comfort and losing no meals, there will be much for the desolate "comrades" in the camps.

"While this depression has meant much of sacrifice to many people, has meant hunger or self-denial to hundreds on relief, it has been one great opportunity for a gang of agitators who have been continuously on the road, ostensibly in the interest of "fellow-workers," although few of them have ever done, or intend to do, very little work if they can get by through holding meetings such as that of last Wednesday and gouging the relief men for their last dimes in the name of a worthy cause. And the surprise is that the relief men appear glad to shell out dimes without thought or care for the bread it will buy for those who need it more than these transient and raucous exponents of a mythical "new order."

No Help For Labor

If every man who went down for the silver on the demand of Evans would stop to think for one minute they would find that the same Arthur Evans, by two silly and unthinking words, undid in a few seconds all that the real friends of Labor have been able to accomplish over several years. Those words were uttered in the face of Premier R. B. Bennett.

"Labor needs public sympathy and support the same as any other cause, but when a man of the type of Arthur Evans chose to use the words he did to the prime minister of this country, he put a doubtful bravado and personal satisfaction ahead of his duty to the cause he espoused. He eliminated public sympathy and he showed as clearly as possible that his interest was more for Communism and Evans than it was for Labor.

"And right here in this district

there is less sympathy for the needy who deprived their families and also themselves to support another of the opportunists who have been feeding on relief men under the cloak of a friendship and championship.

"The C.C.F. was never at a lower ebb than it has been since they went down in their pockets to put money into the maw of Arthur H. Evans in belief that it was going to the men whose cause he pretends to espouse.

"Labor needs all the help it can get but it needs real champions and the champion it needs most of all at this time is the championship of a champion who will champion them against the championship of Arthur Evans and others of his ilk."

The veteran Alaskan lighthouse tender Cedar was back in Ketchikan yesterday after having undergone annual overhaul at Seattle. She brought north a number of lighthouse employees who had been in the south. From Ketchikan the Cedar is proceeding to Mary Island.

Heaviness of Canadian landings marked halibut business at Prince Rupert during the past week, 25 vessels having brought in a total of 285,000 pounds, to bring the season's total of Canadian landings to date up to 1,614,800 pounds as compared with 958,600 pounds at a corresponding date last year. American landings for the week amounted to 196,500 pounds, bringing the aggregate for 1936 to date up to 1,308,800 pounds in comparison with 826,700 pounds a year ago. So far the grand total of halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the season had reached 2,923,600 pounds as compared with 1,765,300 pounds in the corresponding period last year. Prices during the week remained fairly steady, ranging from 6c and 5c to 6.9c and 5.5c for Canadian fish and from 6c and 5c to 7.2c and 6c for American.

Delayed again by having had extra calls to make at cannery points along the coast, Union steamer Cardesa, Capt. John Boden, ordinarily due in port last night from the south, arrived at 11:30 this morning and sailed this afternoon on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.
