ITEMS OF SPORT

Seattle will have baseball in a life sized park next year. A street is to be cut through the present yard on Yessler Way and Dug is preparing to move out to his new yard in Rainier Valley.

The Montreal Herald says that the National Lacrosse Commission is becoming a necessity and before very long it will become an actual fact. The Herald goes on to say that: "Whether the Western scribes know it or not, Con Jones is in favor of a lacrosse commission and there is every reason to believe that when Con Jones comes East on a trip he proposes to make this fall, something more may be talked about it."

"The Giants will have to keep their eyes peeled to prevent the Athletics from stealing their signals," says Joe Tinker. "They use Topsy Hartwell and Harry Davis on the coaching lines for no other purpose. There is no doubt in my mind but that they caught on to our signals last fall. That is why they were able to double cross us when we started to steal a base."

Following appears in the Calgary Albertan. Can Prince Rupert reply? "I, Charles Carver, am willing to meet any man in Canada in the welterweight class. I have inserted this challenge in both Western and Eastern papers, and so far have failed to get any replies to my challenge. Failing to get any to the above I shall lay claim to the welterweight championship of Canada."

An event which will prove to be of great interest to British Columbia bowlers will be when Joe West, the crack champion bowler of the world, pays a visit. He will give exhibitions taking on singles. The fame of West as a ten pin bowler is world-wide and he is perhaps one of the most consistent bowlers in the game today. The conditions of his match state:

1. He will roll any man an exhibition or match game of five or more games. 2. Will roll one or more exhibition games. 3. He will put on singles in the afternoon against all comers and relays for the benefit of those who are unable to witness his performance in the evening.

No dates have yet been made for his appearance the arrangements for his tour not having yet been made complete.

THAT HELLO BOOK

Ald. Kirkpatrick Thinks Those Anxious to Produce It Should Pay for the Privilege.

Final typewritten copy for the new telephone directory to be issued for the city was laid before the council on Monday night by Manager Love through the phone committee. A number of enterprising persons have sought the privilege of printing this directory with the idea that their sole recompense shall be the revenue derived from the advertisements printed in the book. From thinking at first that the city had better do the job itself, and not seek advertisements for the Hello Book, the council has come round to the idea that they might as well get all they can from those who want to print the book, and reap the revenue from the ads.

Alderman Kirkpatrick said the person getting the privilege should pay a bonus for it, and City Solicitor Peters thinks the city should get $500 for the privilege. The Hello Book goes back to the phone committee meanwhile.

PERMANENT MONUMENTS

F. S. Clements to Be Engaged by City to Locate Points in City Survey Exactly.

As the city become built up, the old fixed points established by the original surveyors of the townsite, and marked with stakes, have been destroyed and removed, especially in Section One, but to a great extent in all sections except Section Two. It has become almost impossible to get a correct line now in the heart of the city, and to set this right before it is too late the council have arranged to employ Mr. F. S. Clements, B. C. L. S., who was for a long time with the city staff to establish the old fixed points exactly, and have them marked with suitable permanent monuments. The word "monuments" got Alderman Newton pricking up his ears at council on Monday night, as if he feared the idea was to have Mr. Clements put up monuments to Alderman Hilditch and Alderman Clayton at the corner of Third Avenue and Third Street. However, he speedily appreciated the importance of the matter and the surveyor will be engaged.

= THE COSY CORNER =

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

"WAYS THAT ARE DARK"

How the Willy Oriental Deluded the Cartoonist

A well known cartoonist had agreed to furnish drawings of the characteristic features of a certain exposition in an American city. Illustrating Chinese day he drew a splendid sketch of the imperial dragon of China in the act of defying any encroachment of all the world. Then he wanted to surmount the whole with an appropriate motto in Chinese. He went to a Chinese who had charge of an exhibit of Oriental merchandise in the fair and asked him for some militant motto, written in his native tongue and script. After a moment's hesitation the Chinese did so. The cartoonist carefully copied the characters into his drawing and it was printed with much eclat in the magazine. Soon the editors received the following earnest, not to say solemn screed from some educated Chinese in Washington:

Mr. —'s picture is a credit to the sentiments that America holds toward China, but the incongruous words he has placed above it are out of place and spoil the whole thing. What do they mean in connection with the picture of our exalted dragon, our exalted emblem? What has "Buy of How Sing and Company" got to do with the patriotic drawing? Is the whole thing intended merely as an advertisement?

It was evidently too good a chance for the wily Oriental merchant to lose.

SPLENDID SWIMMERS

Two Toronto Girls Enjoy a Unique Distinction

Two Toronto sisters, fifteen and sixteen years of age, enjoy the distinction of being the only women on the continent to receive the award of merit, a beautiful silver medal, from the Royal Life-Saving Society of Great Britain. They are Misses Dorothy and Honora Cochrane, daughters of Mr. Arthur Cochrane, physical director of Upper Canada College. Others who have won the award are: Messrs. H. R. Brandt, H. M. Dawson, C. Edwards, J. M. F. Gregory, G. W. Tebbis, and L. B. Tillson, students at the University of Toronto, and pupils of Mr. Corsan. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday.

The severity of the test required for the award is shown in the fact that the contestants must tow a non-swimmer sixty feet in five styles, the last sixty both the towed person and the rescuer being fully dressed. They must swim 1,800 feet by three methods; must undress on the surface of the water, must thoroughly understand the Schaefer method of resuscitation, and must break away from the desperate clutch of a drowning person.

Both the young women and their father refer to the wonderful performance very modestly. Mr. Cochrane remarked yesterday that any girl in the city could do the same thing if the school board would give them the opportunity.

The Misses Cochrane were examined at Lake Temagami.

BURIED IN GLOVES

Mark of Distinction in Olden Time

Royal personages and nobility were often interred wearing gloves. The effigies of Richard I. and of John at Fontevraud both have gloved hands; the gloves have the appearance of being richly wrought and jewelled, and are said to be exact copies of those in which they were buried. Thomas a Becket was buried in gloves, and when the tomb of Edward I. was opened, gloves, jewelled on the back, were found on the hands. Few people realize the close connection of gloves with the church. In very olden days they were worn during the service by the clergy as part of the vestments. In some instances ecclesiastical law required that gloves should be put on before the consecration of the Sacrament.

At first the clergy's gloves were white but later they matched the vestments according to the church seasons. So rich and extravagant did these gloves become that the clergy were forbidden to wear gaudy gloves. At the coronation of the King of France the Archbishop used to bless and present a pair of gloves. Gloves were also a recognized part of the regalia and a pair is included in the imperial ornaments of Germany. The Earl of Flanders presented a pair of gloves to Philip the Fair, thereby giving him possession of the towns of Ghent and Bruges.

GERMANY FACES FOOD RISK

Increase in Prices Causes Serious Misgivings as to Coming Winter.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—It is not without serious misgivings that the coming winter is being regarded. It was a splendid summer, but there was a drought throughout the country, and the price of food has risen so enormously that many persons see ruin staring them in the face. Economic experts regard this as Germany's greatest danger for months to come, and steps are already being taken to guard against the suffering that the enormous rise in prices will cause.

Among other measures which are being demanded is the importation of American canned meats—a commodity which has been prohibited in Germany for the last few years. Whether the Government will yield to the stress of public opinion in this respect remains to be seen, but there is little doubt that some step will be taken in order to meet the necessities of the case.

HAS STRANGE POWER

Remarkable Water Finding in the Old Country

A very remarkable achievement in "water-finding" has just been carried through at Selly Oak, Birmingham. It was necessary to discover a supply of water on the land belonging to the Patent Enamel works, and Mr. Chesterman was called from Hereford for the purpose. He went over the land with his piece of aluminum wire for about half an hour. Then he suddenly stopped, and declared that at the place where he stood water would be found at a depth of 250 feet. A contract was signed by which he engaged to sink an 8-inch artesian tube which should produce not less than 15,000 gallons of water a day, on the condition "no water, no pay." He employed hydraulic boring machinery, and in fourteen days struck water at a depth of 243 feet, and test pumping for 29 hours proved a yield of 30,000 gallons per day. That the expert should have gauged the depth within two feet is considered one of the greatest triumphs in water-finding of modern times.

Harvard has a new strong man, Frederick D. Huntington, of Leicester, Mass., centre on the football team, and a featherweight among football men in that position. As strong man, Huntington has displaced F. H. Leslie, the old Harvard champion, whom he defeated by 94 points, according to the strength tests figured on the Sargent system. Huntington's record shows a total of 1,303 points, reckoned upon the strength of legs, back, forearms, upper chest and arms. With his legs Huntington lifted 1,263 pounds. He chinned himself sixteen times and "dipped" twenty-five times. He weighs only 163 pounds, but is broad and has a powerful physique.
