Provincial Finances

While we are without many of the details of the provincial budget it is evident from the brief dispatches published that the province is once more in a flourishing condition financially and that the credit of the province is being re-established following the slump which resulted from the depression and from the poor management of the provincial affairs prior to the entry of the present administration. Hon. John Hart is being given credit for the rehabilitation of the provincial finances and there is no doubt of his ability in the important position of minister of finance. Yet it must not be forgotten that in all policies formulated, the whole cabinet is a party and particularly the premier, who is all powerful in the executive council. Nobody who knows Mr. Pattullo will believe that he plays second fiddle to any minister. His is the controlling hand but it is also true that he has the ability to gather around him wise heads who know how to manage their respective departments.

Civic Recognition

We are heartily in accord with the proposal that the expected visit of John McMillan, Salvation Army commissioner for all Canada, Alaska, Newfoundland and the Bermudas, should be recognized in some public manner. We suggest that it is a purely civic matter and that Commissioner Alder appoint a committee to handle it. The difficulty will be to find a banquet room large enough to accommodate the large number who we feel sure will wish to attend such an event.

This is the first time Prince Rupert has had an opportunity to entertain the highest officer in this country of the Salvation Army, an organization that is doing such splendid work everywhere.

Third Largest Contributor

The Province of British Columbia is the third largest contributor to the federal government by way of income tax of all the nine provinces. Money is coming into British Columbia because the province regards investments as a sacred trust. Any suggestion of repudiation or sympathy toward those who would jeopardize the credit of the province has been carefully avoided. Hon. Mr. Hart says in his budget speech. In spite of difficulties the credit of the province has been preserved intact. Mr. Hart quoted from the president of the Royal Bank in which that gentleman spoke of the "remarkable advances towards the goal of good times made by British Columbia in the past few years."

Historic Flags Hang in Chamber Of Legislature

First Flags Flown Over Canadian Unit in France During War Have Honored Place

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Nov. 7: (CP)—Hanging on the wall of the Confederation chamber in the Prince Edward Island legislature are two flags which add to its atmosphere of dignity and honor—the first flags flown over Canadian troops in France.

Flanked by pictures of famous judges and other Islanders who have arisen to high positions in the world, the Union Jack and the Geneva Cross occupy a glass show case directly above a picture of the convention of delegates from Upper Canada, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Islands which met in this same room on September 1, 1864, "to take into consideration the union of the British North American Colonies."

An inscription beneath the two flags declares that James Walker, a veteran of the Great War and the Boer War, issued them in November, 1914.

"I, James Walker, do declare that in my capacity as Captain and Quarter-Master of Number 2 Canadian Stationery Hospital, which unit was located at LeTouquet, France, in November, 1914, being the first Canadian unit to arrive in France following the outbreak of the Great War I issued from my stores the Union Jack and the Geneva Cross contained in this case. These flags were the first flags to be flown over a Canadian unit in France."

WOMEN ARE CHAMPIONED

Head of University Clubs in Canada Reports on International Meeting in Poland

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 7: (CP)—The right of women to work in intellectual fields is a cause being staunchly championed by the International Federation of University Women, the local branch was told by Miss Laura Newman, St. Catharines, Ont., president of the Canadian Federation of University Women's Clubs.

Making her first Maritime trip in the course of visiting all 32 clubs in Canada Miss Newman had just returned from the international organization's convention at Cracow, Poland.

The Canadian federation, she said, was offering a hospitality fellowship to a university woman from some non-English speaking country who would receive free accommodation in a Canadian university centre and a transcontinental tour of this country.

Canadian women were elected to head two of the international committees, Miss Newman reported. Because of widely differing national attitudes, compromise had been a keynote of the convention. From 21 nations came reports of increasing difficulties facing employment of women and vigorous action in fighting restrictions.

Means of making the younger generation more internationally minded were considered. Stress was laid on the need for university women's organizations to co-operate with other associations in work on behalf of women and desired reforms. Both the German and Italian federations had left the international group, their organizations having been disbanded and replaced by new ones at the instance of their governments.

Miss Newman offered some criticism of university women generally for failure to take a more outstanding place in national and community life.

PHONE GIRLS SAY "YES"

TIMMINS, Ont., Nov. 7: (CP)—So many "hello" girls have been saying "I do" here that the telephone service has suffered, officials admitted when town council made a complaint. "It is difficult to keep girls from getting married," the telephone company reported, "and it takes about two weeks to train them."

Tonight's train, due from the east at 10:20, was reported this morning to be on time.

POPPIES

Speak to the heart, bright poppies! Ye that glow Upon the plains of Douai, far below,
Of quiet graves beneath the Flanders' skies,
Where Vimy's spires in deathless beauty rise

Speak of the Glorious Dead—yet living still,
Mute legions thronging that historic hill,
Awaiting 'mid deep peace upon the ridge,
Comrades who keep the tryst in pilgrimage!

Speak of the memories which bound them both—
Living and dead—in one mysterious troth:
One cause supreme, one selfless sacrifice,
That we may keep today our Armistice.

Flame, poppies! Lift your scarlet torches high!
Whisper the names sublime which cannot die;
When at their feet your blossoms, bright, we lay
In glowing tribute on Remembrance Day.

WINIFRED O. BRASS.

Man in the Moon

Now that the Republican party in the United States is under a cloud, the country will be given an opportunity to make progress. When it is needed once more to steady up the people and prevent too rapid progress the cloud will roll away and the sun shine on it brightly once more.

Some people have handles to their names but mugs also have handles.

The difference between Roosevelt and Landon, judging by their speeches, is that Roosevelt is human.

The Republican party in the United States is something like the herring seiner Mars that struck a reef and sank on election day. In each case only the mas was in sight and it was in danger of disappearing soon if salvage operations were not quickly commenced.

PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Beulah McKinley Becomes Bride of Gordon Daniels Before Large Congregation

Last evening at 7:30 before a large congregation in First Presbyterian Church the marriage of Beulah Agnes, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKinley, and Frederick Gordon Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Daniels of Victoria, was solemnized. A large archway of greens served as the background for the bridal party, the contracting couple standing beneath a picturesque horseshoe and wedding bells. Rev. Dr. F. W. Dafeo, pastor of First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, made a beautiful picture as she walked up the aisle to the music of Lohengrin's March. She wore a wedding gown of white satin finished lace which formed a slight train at the back. A silk embroidered net veil fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of cream roses and maidenhair fern.

The winsome bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Finley, wore a lovely dress of powder blue organza and had a spray of pink and white rosebuds in her hair. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations, white chrysanthemums and fern.

Two little dainty flowergirls were Miss Jackie Smith and Miss Diane Gilker, the latter a niece of the bride. They were cutely dressed in short ruffled dresses of coral organza, trimmed with satin ribbon and French rosebuds. They carried blue organdie baskets filled with small pink flowers.

Charles Bennett acted as groomsmen while D. V. Smith and J. C. Gilker were ushers. Mrs. J. C. Gilker, sister of the bride, presided at the organ.

Reception Is Held

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 215 Fourth Avenue East. The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion. The couple received the congratulations of their many friends beneath a beautifully decorated archway. Mrs. McKinley who assisted in receiving, wore an orchid silk dress and lace jacket to match with a corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride's table was centred with a beautiful four-tiered wedding cake embedded in pink tulle with four candles at the corners.

Mrs. J. R. Murray and Mrs. N. Mussaleim poured and the Misses Ruthanna Wood, Sheila Stuart, Helen Walker and Pheme Finley assisted in serving. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Dr. F. W. Dafeo and was responded to by the groom. J. C. Gilker proposed a toast to the bridesmaid which was responded to by the groomsmen. There was also a very charming toast to the bride's mother, proposed by John E. Davey and responded to by J. W. McKinley.

During the evening J. E. Davey sang beautifully "Until." Many gifts were on display, among them being two presentations from the church choir and the Sunday School in both of which the bride has taken an active part for years.

Honeymoon in South

After the reception the happy couple sailed on the Princess Adelaide for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Victoria. Miss Sheila Stuart caught the bride's bouquet.

For her going away costume the bride chose a rust metalasse crepe tailored suit and a dark brown hare seal coat with brown accessories.

Mrs. Daniels was born in Prince Rupert. Mr. Daniels has been here for the past seven years and is radio telegrapher for the provincial police.

On their return from the south Mr. and Mrs. Daniels will reside on Fourth Avenue East in the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. T. N. LePage.

With the aid of an eye-dropper, Mrs. O'Connor has been pumping milk, honey, tomato juice and blood squeezed from meat into the injured bird for the last six weeks.

The Letter Box

WERE NO JOBS

Editor, Daily News:— May I be allowed a little space in your newspaper. I should like to voice my opinion on Mr. Wilson's letter on Poppy Day in which your correspondent says: "They gave their all." A lot of these poor men joined up because there were no jobs for them and not many gave up good positions. And with conditions as they are today they are indeed better off lying in Flanders Fields. Thank you

Yours very truly,
MRS. A. HODGSON,
Veteran's Wife.
