THE ALMIGHTY DOLLAR

It has become the fashion in many quarters to figure out that the money spent in a college education should be repaid in dollars and cents in increased salary after the persons starts to work. That is the purely material idea of education. That is for those who regard a college education as a financial investment which will pay dividends in dollars.

The other view of higher education is that it is a means of helping the individual to live a fuller life and enjoy it better. To such the financial reward does not matter. It is true that the more highly paid professions such as doctors, lawyers and engineers must have a university education as part of their equipment. But that is incidental. The real training for the professions starts after the university course ends.

Someone has been delving into statistics and finds that the universities of the United States are turning out hundreds of men and women who are unfitted to make a living at ordinary occupations and they refuse to get down to the drudgery of commercial or other callings. The result is that they blame the state for educating them to a point above their fellows and for not finding them suitable white collar employment at pay suitable to their mode of life.

Young men who wish to be trained for work should attend a technical school rather than a university. They should realize that a university education does not set them on a pedestal above their fellows and that there are no cushy jobs for them when they graduate. They must take their chances with the rest of the young men, handicapped by the fact that they have spent much time learning to live while others of their age have been learning to make a living, which is something quite different.

One of the tragedies of the age is the young man who leaves the university imbued with the idea that the world owes him a soft job only to find that he has to be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water for the man who has been trained from his boyhood in some trade or calling instead of being given what is usually known as higher education. Another tragedy is when the young man who has learned to make a living finds after a term of years that he has devoted his time to that so exclusively that he finds himself wealthy without knowing how to employ his time. He is in as bad a plight as the man who has the education and has learned all the games and sports and other pastimes of the university but cannot earn enough money to enable him to enjoy those recreations.

Both New York Giants and Yanks Improve Their Margins

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2: (CP)—"School Boy" Rowe pitched the Detroit Tigers to a two-hit victory over the Philadelphia Athletics here yesterday, one of the hits being a homer with no one on in the ninth which gave the Mackmen their only counter of the game.

The Cleveland Indians were defeated by the Boston Red Sox at Boston and the margin of New York Yankees leadership was, as a result, run up to seventeen full games. The Washington Senators won over St. Louis Browns to move into a tie with Chicago White Sox for fourth place.

In the National League the New York Giants won over the Chicago Cubs and increased their margin of leadership over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to four full games.

Yesterday's Big League scores:
American League
Cleveland 1, Boston 4.
St. Louis 3, Washington 5.
Detroit 4, Philadelphia 1.
National League
New York 7, Chicago 4.
Boston 1, Pittsburgh 3.
Philadelphia 2, Cincinnati 3.
Brooklyn 3, St. Louis 2 (called in fourth inning on account of rain).

Former Welterweight Champion Plans Boxing Career For 18-Year-Old Bobby

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 2: (AP)—Stocky Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, looks back on his 30 fighting years with fondness and looks forward to a big time boxing career he hopes is in store for his son.

Almost daily he works out with 18-year old Bobby Britton, teaching him the tricks of the trade in hopes the boy may some day rule the welterweight roost. The youngster, who won the southeastern amateur title last year, gained a decision after being floored in his first professional bout. He went on to win his next two scraps.

When Bobby is launched on his career, the former champion plans to return to New York where he instructs boxing in a downtown athletic club and judges for the boxing commission. He has a half interest in a Miami drug store.

Jack began fighting in Chicago's west side when he was 16 and estimates he trod the canvas at least 375 times before he retired at 45. Nevertheless, he emphatically believes a fighter should leave the ring at 30.

For hard punching, Britton remembers Mickey Walker, but Benny Leonard was the stiffest puncher he ever fought. Jack and Ted Lewis, from whom he captured the welterweight title in 1919, fought each other 22 times in five years. Jack's real name is William J. Breslin. When he left New Britain, Conn., to live in Chicago, his school mates nicknamed him Britton.

CHARGE BY SCHMELING

Declares That Louis Deliberately Fouled Him—Joe Denies It

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2:—In an article in this week's Saturday Evening Post, Max Schmeling claims that he was deliberately fouled by Joe Louis with a low blow in the twelfth round of their bout in New York last June. This low blow prompted Schmeling to launch the thundering attack which resulted in Louis being knocked out.

Louis Denies It

DETROIT, Sept. 2:—Joe Louis yesterday denied that he had deliberately fouled Max Schmeling in their June bout in New York. "I was so dazed I didn't know what I was doing," said Louis. "I had no intention of fouling."

Ottawa May Be In Hockey Loop This Year Again

OTTAWA, Sept. 2: — French-Canadian interests are conducting negotiations with a view to having Ottawa return to a berth in the National Hockey League during the coming winter season.

"I hate waste . . . so I cherish those odd leftovers of meats and desserts and vegetables, keeping them fresh and at the peak of their flavour, so that the very look of them on my gleaming shelves, tempts you to serve them again in various ingenious ways. This is a saving you'll thank me for, particularly when you have a chance to compare your food bills with what they were before I came into your life. It's the same with liquids, too. I keep milk fresh and sweet for much longer than the ordinary period and I'm always ready to supply ice cubes to highlight your entertaining."
