

WHARF STRIKE SITUATION TODAY

Freighters Discharging with Their Own Men—Situation Remains at a Deadlock.

This morning's situation in regard to the longshoremen's strike is something of a deadlock as far as both parties are concerned. Several vessels have arrived at the wharf and the work of discharging their cargoes has been done by their own hands. Officers and stevedores have taken a hand in the work, doing their barrow wheeling with energy. Yesterday the C.P.R. S.S. Princess Ena was so discharged. Her freight amounts to about six hundred tons this trip, and the Ena will be delayed by the strike unless a settlement is effected.

Regarding the G. T. P. S.S. Prince Rupert which arrived Wednesday, and was the first steamer in after the strike situation developed, there was no trouble at all, the cargo was discharged by the crew. Mr. McMaster said this morning that as far as the G. T. P. was concerned he anticipated no trouble, nor any great inconvenience. Cargoes are lighter now, and the ships' crews can handle them.

Today meetings were discussed but the men are instructed by their leaders to preserve a discreet silence as to their plans but a communication will be made the press by W. Dinny, the union secretary, before long.

AT THE THEATRE

Mrs. Temple's Telegram Proved to be of Great Value to Husbands

Every married man who failed to witness the performance of Mrs. Temple's Telegram last night missed the opportunity of his life. It was the best dollar's worth of example in the art of domestic pervication that one could hope for. There were all the old excuses, and several new varieties and combinations that we had never thought of before.

The story starts with Jack Temple's dilemma. He has been out all night. He and a strange lady had been marooned in a car on a Ferris wheel since the previous evening. Jack is scared lest his wife should misunderstand the matter, so thoughtfully, as becometh a good husband, he invented a plausible excuse. He had been spending the evening with his friend John Brown of Pickleton-on-Thames after missing the train.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Temple is jealous. She suspects that no such place as Pickleton-on-Thames exists outside of her husband's fertile imagination. But she sends a telegram summoning Mr. Brown from Pickleton, in order to test her husband's truth. Temple finding what his wife had done, induces his friend Frank Fuller to impersonate the fictitious Mr. Brown, and the curtain goes down on the first act with everybody feeling quite happy.

Fortunately for the audience there are two more acts. There is also a real Pickleton and a real Mr. Brown. There is also a Mrs. John Brown. The real John comes to town in answer to the telegram. His wife comes in pursuit. But Fuller like a practised old general falls back on one defensive line of pervication after another. Of course it ends with Fuller's discomfiture, when the "lady in the car" calls on Jack Temple, and proves to be Mrs. Fuller. This is to catch the ladies in the audience. But no married man would be afraid to venture on the ocean of domestic pervication with so good a captain as Frank Fuller at the helm.

The play quite lived up to its description of "a laugh a minute." As the unhappy Mrs. Temple, May Roberts was the embodiment of sorrowful comedy. Frank Fuller, acted by Mr. Gillard was dashing and resourceful. He was well met by Mr. Zucco in the part of Jack Temple. The excellent character parts of Mr. John Brown of Pickleton, an amorous hair dressers' assistant, and his slatternly wife, were full of fun in the hands of Ira Robertson and Miss Frances Williamson. Miss St. John as Mrs. Fuller displayed some fine gowns, among them a modified harem skirt in the first act, which was quite becoming.

Before the curtain rose on the last act Mr. Gillard announced to the audience that the company has been persuaded by Mr. Stevens, the popular manager of the Empress, to stay in Rupert until the sailing of the Camosun on Sunday.

Tonight they will play "The Adventurers" in which Miss Roberts finds her very strongest role, and on Saturday night "Divorçons" for the second time, in response to many requests.

WATERWORKS BY-LAW ILLEGAL

unless the Premier's promise was made over his signature.

Since then, Mr. Peters was despatched on his special mission to Victoria.

Statement by the Mayor

In a special interview this morning the Mayor stated officially for Daily News readers the position in regard to the hydro-electric scheme and by-law deadlock. Question and answer are here given as reported in shorthand verbatim:

"In reference to the hydro-electric scheme and the by-law difficulty, have you had any official telegram from Mr. Peters regarding the situation at present?"

The Mayor—"I have received a telegram from Mr. Peters to the effect that he has obtained an Order in Council to ratify the by-law by private bill to be passed through the Legislature next session."

"May we have an exact copy of the telegram, or do you prefer merely to summarise it as you have done?"

The Mayor—"I am giving you the substance of the telegram, it is not necessary to quote its exact wording."

"When is the next sitting of the Legislature at which the Private Bill is to come up?"

The Mayor—"In January."

"Does that mean that the hydro-electric matter will come up as soon as the Legislature sits, or is there a chance that it will be shelved while other matters are attended to?"

The Mayor—"The matter will come up as early as the needs of the case will warrant."

"In the meanwhile what is being done?"

The Mayor—"There is no particular change in the situation. Mr. Peters will be home on Monday when we will have full information, and matters will be gone into fully."

"At the meeting of the council on Monday?"

The Mayor—"Yes, at the meeting if Mr. Peters is home in time."

"Would it not be a simpler way which would expedite the start of the work on the scheme, if the two by-laws were submitted in legal manner now instead of both in one?"

The Mayor—"That would be unwise in the interests of the city. This suggestion was given every consideration at the time of the passage of the by-law, and since the pipe line unites the water-works and power scheme inseparably, the two undertakings are contingent one upon the other so far as the cost is concerned. The work can be completed jointly as provided by the by-law, for the sum of $550,000, but if it was done separately, and separate by-laws passed, you would have to add according to the estimate given by the City Engineer, $68,000 extra."

WEDDING LAST NIGHT

Miss Susie Mae Robertson Became the Bride of Mr. Clarence Leicester Swindell. A Pretty and Popular Ceremony.

At the residence of Mr. W. T. Robertson, Musgrave Place, at eight o'clock last night a very pretty wedding took place. The bride was Miss Susie Mae Robertson, and the bridegroom Mr. Clarence Leicester Swindell. Both bride and bridegroom are well known and very popular young people in Prince Rupert. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. F. W. Kerr, the bride being given away by her father, and attended by Miss Wark as bridesmaid. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. R. M. McIntosh. A very large company of the many friends of bride and bridegroom attended the wedding, and joined in the festivity which followed. Many handsome presents were bestowed on the young couple who left by the Prince Rupert this morning for their honeymoon in the south. They will return to take up residence in Rupert.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

Party of Merry-makers Swoop Down on Popular Young Newly-Weds Last Night.

A most successful surprise party was sprung on Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Unwin last night by nearly a score of their friends, and a most enjoyable evening was spent at the young married couple's home on Borden street with song, recitation, and instrumental music. The party brought with them abundance of good things which were supplemented in more than hospitable style by Mrs. Unwin who though taken completely by surprise welcomed the party with a will. Amongst those swooping down on the popular young couple were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Derry, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yager, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Viereck, and Messrs. F. E. Ellis, W. R. Reilley, H. Lever, R. Shrubbsall and others. Mr. Ellis gave as recitations "Lasca" and "The Quack Doctor" with telling effect. The party broke up after midnight.

FIRST: "CATCH YOUR PRINTER"

DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING A HARE:
FIRST—"CATCH YOUR HARE"

To produce good printing you must "first catch your good printer. . . You can't get good printing from a poor printer, even if he work with never so good an equipment. If he lacks the "knack," the trained taste, the single-minded fondness for his work which real printers have, he will do poor printing for you. If he has all of these, and in addition to them adequate modern equipment, your printing will have distinction, salesmanship, the lure of type-beauty.

As this office produces good printing you may infer the presence of a good printer—who is "catchable."
