Ships Lay Up

Callings Cancelled—Possibility of Naval Intervention Discussed

ALASKA JOINS

Longshoremen at Southeastern Alaska ports have also gone on strike and boats which have been lying there are being ordered to tie up, according to word brought to Prince Rupert this morning. The well known motorship Zapora, Capt. E. Hansen, was in port this morning from Ketchikan with two carloads of frozen fish and two carloads of milled salmon for trans-shipment east over Canadian National Railways. After discharging, the Zapora proceeded to Seattle where she will be tied up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—One hundred and thirty-three ships, thirty of them in New York, are tied up in Atlantic and Gulf ports as crews walked out in sympathy with the Pacific Coast marine workers strike, it was announced last night by the seamen's protection committee. Further boats are being tied up as they arrive in port. The sailing of the steamer Virginia from here for California, scheduled for today, was cancelled because that of the liner Manhattan for Europe.

Possibility of naval intervention to keep the ships moving is being discussed. Violence is feared. On Pacific Coast
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The dispute between the unions and shipowners which has resulted in complete strike tie-up of Pacific coast shipping was still deadlocked last night with little indication of a nearby settlement. More crews continued to walk out as vessels return to their various home ports. No violence was reported up to last night as pickets and police continued to stand on guard. There has been no effort on the part of the shipowners to move vessels. Perishable goods valued at millions of dollars are tied up as a result of the strike of warehouse men. An impending food shortage in Alaska is denied.

She will be met at Triple Island by Capt. J. R. Elford, harbor master, and piloted in.

Loading of the Norwegian motorship Heina with a full cargo of grain for United Kingdom or Continent started at the elevator this morning and the vessel is expected to be ready to sail by Thursday.

BALLOTS ARE TALKING TODAY; BITTERNESS IS GONE AS BATTLE ENDS

Roosevelt and Landon Agree Nation Will Go Forward No Matter What Result—General Opinion is Chief Executive Will Win Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—With bitterness which had shown its head during the course of the campaign apparently gone, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for re-election as chief executive, and Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, his Republican opponent, in election eve addresses last night, agreed that the United States would go forward to a better day no matter what the result of today's voting might be. President Roosevelt gave a radio address during the evening from his study at Hyde Park. Earlier in the day he spoke before an audience of 20,000 persons in Poughkeepsie. Governor Landon closed his campaign in his capital city of Topeka. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, speaking at New York, predicted the re-election of President Roosevelt. Earl Browder, Communist candidate, spoke at Madison Square Garden and urged strong expression in favor of the dictatorship of the proletariat. Father Charles Coughlin of Detroit spoke twice during the day in support of William Lemke, the third party candidate. The largest vote in the history of the nation, totalling possibly 44,000,000, is expected. The campaign has been the costliest so far waged in the history of the country, official returns indicating that so far $13,000,000 had been spent. Betting ranges from two to one to three to one in favor of Roosevelt. Republican National Chairman Hamilton predicted last night that there would be at least 224 electoral votes for Landon out of a total of 361. This prediction is generally considered as extravagant and even the most of party workers do not expect it. Democratic National Chairman James Farley predicts a landslide for Roosevelt and concedes only Maine and Vermont to the Republicans. There will be a large New Deal majority in the House he believes. Democratic senatorial control is virtually assured on account of hold-overs. Unfavorable election day weather is prevailing almost throughout the nation. There is sleet and snow in the West and Middle West with cold weather extending into the East Only in California and Florida is there real fine weather.

INSURGENTS CONTINUE ATTACKS UPON MADRID; LAND FORCES APPROACH

MADRID, Nov. 3:—For the fourth consecutive day, this capital city was bombed yesterday by insurgent fighting planes. There was no panic although death and destruction was caused. Meantime, the rebel land forces continued to draw the circle of troops closer around the city, reaching to within ten miles at the nearest point. Impartial observers declare that there is little likelihood of the immediate fall of the capital which can resist attack for at least several days.

ALEXANDER CHAIRMAN FISHERIES COMMISSION

VICTORIA, Nov. 3: (CP)—George J. Alexander, deputy commissioner of fisheries for British Columbia, was chosen at a meeting in Seattle at the end of the week as the new chairman of the International Fisheries Commission, succeeding the late J. P. Babcock. It was announced here Monday. day.
It is all very complicated, particularly Article XII of the constitution which provided this method of choosing the chief executive, but it works out pretty smoothly, and a good time is had by all, particularly the electors. As for the sovereign people, practically everybody in the United States will know the night of November 3 who has been elected, although it won't be official until the college of electors says so. And it won't "talk" until the first Monday after (Continued on Page Two)
