Balancing of Budget

The President of the United States suggests that he has a plan for balancing the budget and naturally the world is looking forward for the announcement in January which will let them into the secret of how to do it. There seem to be only two methods of doing this, either by collecting more revenue or by spending less. If there is some other magical method we shall all be glad to learn about it. Possibly the plan is to head off the Townsendites by levying a sales tax.

Evidently he has noted what happened to other mayors in other cities after they had held the office for several years. While it is quite possible Mr. McGeer would have been re-elected, it is never a sure thing and it would injure his prestige at Ottawa to be defeated in his home town. Also it must be difficult for a man to hold down two such important posi- Foord, British Empire heavyweight tions as mayor of Vancouver and member of the Domin- boxing champion, read the les- Town 0. ion Parliament.
