Bulger's Have An Unusual Business

In Addition to Being Experts in Jewellery and Optics They Do Manufacturing and Mail Order Work

The old established jewelry firm of John Bulger Ltd. is one of the few retail businesses which have been in Prince Rupert at practically the same location since pioneer days. John Bulger, the senior member of the firm, was originally established at Seaforth, Ont., and came west in 1912 to locate in Vancouver, later moving to Lacombe, Alta. and in 1915 purchased the Wark business in Prince Rupert. A few years later Jack Bulger became a member of the firm.

The store does a considerable mail order business with the surrounding districts and interior points and takes pride in the high quality of the goods carried, every effort being made to have customers well satisfied.

The workshop is equipped for manufacturing on a small scale and any article of gold or silver needed in a hurry can be made and engraved on the premises.

The optical end of the business is looked after by Jack Bulger who took a special course in that line and passed the government exams with honors in 1925.

Almost any fine mechanical work can be undertaken and among some of the jobs done were the making of a large church tower clock and their own street advertising clock. Diamonds, silverware, watches and a general line of goods carried in jewelry stores are carried in stock.
