British Will Compete TRANSFIR OF SALMON

Fighter in Inland Lakes And Rivers

OTTAWA, Nev. 26: (CP)-Canada's in and lakes may boast another type of fighting fish if an; experiment now being carried on with Atlantic salmon works out.

The experiment is designed to determine whether the mighty salmon, which is born in fresh water and returns to fresh water to; spawn, but spends the greater art of its life roaming the depths of the open sea, can be tamed and ado to live in fresh water lakes.

Recently 2,509 Atlantic salmon fingerlings were shipped from the Dominion government fish hatchrry at Yarmouth, N.S., to the Snake River district of Quebec, not far from Mathawa, Ont. They were released in fresh water lakes, the outlets of which had been carefully screened.

The fate of these little fish in the next few years will determine whether environment in this case! s stronger than heredity. They will be watched to see if they mature, spawn and reproduce in their new home. If they do other led with salmon from the see led with salmon from the sea.

Two Toronto men, Prof. W. J. K. Harkness of the University of Toronto, and Moffatt Dunlap are undertaking the experiment. The Miss Deminion department of fisheries supplied the fingerlings and supervised their shipment to the! Snake River district. The fingerlings ended their journey in good condition and only a few passed out on the way.
