Sir James Barrie Did Not Have To Struggle For Recognition-Many Great Works

LONDON, June 24: (AP)—Unlike many writers who, at the beginning, have had to struggle for recognition, the career of Sir James M. Barrie, who died Saturday, in the field of literature and drama was a pronounced success almost from the start, and reached its climax in 1922 when he was decorated writer before branching into liter-known to all.

After the stage success of "The Little Minister," Barrie produced many other notable successes including "Quality Street," "The Admirable Crichton," "Peter Pan," "Alice Sit-by-the-Fire" and "What Every Woman Knows."

The last named was produced in Nabob Coffee-1908 and was followed by the greatest disappointment in the life of Sir James, his marital troubles. culminating in divorcing his wife in October 1909. He married in 1895 Miss Mary Ansell, who had scored a success in his comedy "Walker, London," two years previously. The divorce proceedings came as a great surprise to the friends of both as they had appeared as a most devoted couple. It was said that the wonderful grasp of feminine characters which Barrie had shown in his books and plays had been inspired in some degree by his perfect agreement with his wife. The author had offered to forgive his wife and take her back, but she refused and the divorce proceedings and trial were said to have been the most trying ordeal of Sir James' life.

Well Known Works

Sir James' best known dramatic works of later years included "The Legend of Leonora," "The Will," "The Adored One," "Half an Hour," Phone 765 "Der Tag," "Rosy Rapture," "A Kiss For Cinderella," "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," "Seven Women," "Dear Brutus," "Echoes of the War," "The Truth About the Russian Dancers," "Mary Rose." Many of the stage successes of Barrie were produced in America by Charles Frohman, whom he author regarded as one of his closest friends. During Mr. Frohman's numerous visits to London the two were inseparable. Maude Adams starred in three of Barrie's plays in the United States, "The Little Minister." "Peter Pan" and "What Every Woman Knows." A baronetcy was conferred upon Sir James on June 3, 1913, upon the occasion of King George's birthday anniversary, and the Order of Merit was conferred upon him for his service to literature and the drama in the distribution of New Year's honors in 1922. Sir James was elected rector of St. Andrew's University to succeed Earl Haig November 1, 1919. Upon his installation he delivered an address on "Courage," which was 746 - Phones - 858 characterized as one, the like of which had never before been heard by a body of students.
