ORANGE LODGE MASTER SPEAKS

Editor, Daily News:

I am taking this opportunity to set at right an erroneous impression which our City Commissioner has endeavored to create, namely that the Loyal Orange Lodge of this city is responsible for the sane citizens of this city adopting a very definite attitude toward the recent hospital situation. As Master of the local Lodge I wish to state that the said lodge as a unit has done nothing whatever to raise an organized bloc against the coming of the people who made the recent offer. They have not even got together for a meeting on the subject. As a citizen, however, I have done all I could to advertise the disadvantages that would follow the acceptance of the offer and I have not the slightest doubt whatever that by far the majority of the members of our organization have done likewise but what they have done has been of their own accord and with the sole interest of our city at heart. In view of this we regret that a man who holds such an important position in our city as City Commissioner should make such a very definite and uncalled for attack on an organization which is essentially fair and patriotic.

For the information of those who do not know it the motto of the Loyal Orange Association is "Equal rights for all, and special Privileges for none." This refers to everyone alike and, had the applicants been of any other sect than the Roman Catholics, the attitude of the Loyal Orange would have been the same. I might say that for the past 25 years or more there has been perfect harmony, in this city between those who choose the Roman Catholic faith and the members of the Orange Association and, as far as the Orangemen are concerned, we feel sure that this state of affairs is the one to be desired. If the attack was meant to stir up strife, as all citizens who have spoken to me take it, then it might interest you to know that the effort has failed as it deserved and as far as our Roman Catholic friends are concerned we are still as friendly to them as ever. Regarding your reference to Rt. Rev. Bishop Bunoz, it might interest you to know that this reverend gentleman is held in the greatest respect by the majority of our members and we feel that the credit for the present and past state of harmony in this section of the community is in no small degree due to his efforts. We know that we do not want strife, and we are reasonably sure that the Rev. Father, is of the same mind, so why you, as a total outsider, should consider it your duty to stir it up is beyond the understanding of a great many of the citizens who never saw the inside of an Orange Lodge.

It would also be interesting to know why such prominent and useful organizations as the Oddfellows, the Masons, the St. Andrew's Society, the Sons of Norway, and those two very efficient service clubs, Rotary and Gyro, were left out. There is only one answer of course, as the Prince Rupert citizens know, and that is the one already given.

For the benefit of the members of this community who are not aware why some of us worked against the offer of the Sisters of St. Ann, might I be permitted to add what I consider the real reasons the offer was worked against. Firstly Mr. Alder says that, after all his trouble in trying to bring capital and industry to the city, an offer to bring in $200,000 is turned down by the citizens. Now Mr. Alder knows as well as any one of us that this is absolutely untrue as no such offer was ever received, no matter how you exaggerate it. The offer that was made, as nearly all the citizens know, was so full of objectionable conditions that it in no sense of the word looked like a decent business proposition. Mr. Alder knows that we were asked to give the hospital away to ascertain organization, that is we were giving away the Government grants, city taxes, hospital assets, and in addition to all this we were to give a guarantee that no other hospital would be allowed to come into the city to start up in business. Apart altogether from the unreasonableness of the above Mr. Alder must not forget that a few years ago the citizens gave away one of their most precious utilities, namely the light plant, and they have not forgotten it. In fact if they had to reconsider the matter the conditions might be very different.

Mr. Alder's recent behavior seems to bear out the remark heard recently that "he knew nothing but bond-holders and had a heart of stone which however on occasion demanding it could be turned on to sob-sister stuff." This seems to be borne out when we read that news item "that every time the Fire Bell rings (no matter how many rings it gives) his thoughts turn immediately to those poor helpless individuals in the hospital," and he immediately tells us that he has been aware of a report from the Provincial Fire Marshal over one year old that states that the present hospital is a fire trap and unsafe from that point of view. Now it would be idle for Mr. Alder to say that the Hospital Board did not want the report published, as Mr. Alder as head of this city had a very definite duty to the citizens of it and his duty was very clearly to let us all know as soon as possible. It would be very interesting to know exactly where Mr. Alder would have stood had there been an accident at the local hospital during the last year and he in possession of such vitally important news regarding the state of it. The Provincial Fire Marshal's Department might not have had such lenient views as we are expected to have and certainly the insurance companies would not.

Another angle that presents itself, Mr. Alder refers to the incoming $200,000 as an industry bringing in money. It would be interesting to know how much would be spent in wages or anything else after the initial structure had been raised. Remember Mr. Alder, that the present hospital is maintaining a staff which is being paid reasonable living wages and, while we are not concerned with what the Sisters deem sufficient wages for their helpers, we are concerned with the fact that at present we are able to keep a living wage on at the local institution and that is of importance to a working person. As I understand an industry it is something in the nature of the proposed pulp mill, a sawmill or anything that manufactures and so maintains a reasonably steady payroll which is a really big asset to the community where it is located. Could the entry of the Sisters be likened to anything of this kind?

Now, Mr. Alder, I think that everybody in the city will readily agree that we need a new hospital and we need it quickly. There is at least a little money in the town for the purpose and there are ways and means of getting more, as witness those progressive hospitals at Nelson and Alberni. One of our service clubs has been using a very efficient method of raising funds for a very laudable cause and there is nothing (that is reasonable) that would prevent our local hospital board from adopting the same method. If, when everything that is available immediately is in and if it should prove to fall short of the necessary amount, then what is the matter with your digging into the taxes for the balance. We are quite aware that for the past few years you have proved a most efficient collecting agency for the bond-holders and in doing so, of course, have let the city run to seed, but while I am quite ready to admit that the invested capital has certain rights in the manner of obtaining its interest, yet I do not admit that it has the right to take its interest at the expense of "those poor helpless sick people" who are doomed to take up temporary residence in the local hospital. I suggest that you introduce a certain amount of really genuine humanity into your collecting and, if you do this, that matter of a new hospital will become an accomplished fact instead of a nightmare. I am not advocating the increasing of taxes but simply using some of those that you have collected.

Now, Mr. Alder, if you show a real genuine interest in trying to get us a good General Hospital in this community you will be able to get the canneries and other big money interested but don't for heaven's sake, keep up your efforts to alienate their sympathy as you have been using your powers to do up to the present.

Yours for a bigger and better hospital and any other progressive measure in the city of Prince Rupert.

M. B. LEMON,
Prince Rupert L.O.L. Master.

MUSIC AND THRILLER

"Pennies From Heaven" and "They Met in a Taxi" At Capitol Theatre

"Pennies from Heaven," a tuneysome musical comedy, and "They Met in a Taxi," a sprightly farcical comedy romance, comprise the double bill program at the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week.

"Pennies from Heaven" concerns a vagabond troubador Bing Crosby, who falls in love with a little girl, Edith Fellows, and her improvident grandfather (Donald Meek) and proceeds to take them under his wing. A welfare worker, Madge Evans, enters the scene and a romance develops which, after some complications, works out for the best. Romance and music take turns with the entertainment and Crosby sings some popular songs such as "Pennies from Heaven," "So Do I," "Let's Call a Heart a Heart," "One Two Button Your Shoe" and Skeleton in the Closet."

Chester Morris and Fay Wray enact the feature roles in "They Met in a Taxi," the story of a beautiful dress model, posing as an escaping heiress-bride, who turns out to be not a bride at all but a girl accused of the theft of a valuable necklace. There is a thrilling climax which brings the story to a happy ending.
