CENTRAL BRITISH COLUMBIA

No apology is needed to Prince Rupert people for the selves Christians." amount of space given recently to the people and affairs Miss Evelyn Brockway pro of Central British Columbia. Many of the people there posed the toast to the visitors are regular readers of the Daily News and, through this A.Y.P.A. members had in be newspaper, they keep in touch with Prince Rupert and the ing able to entertain their friends other communities of the district. Many interior people Wilfrid Hicks, president of the will visit the city this week or for other events during Christian Youth Society, thanked the summer such as the annual convention of the Boards visitors for the happy thought of of Trade of Central British Columbia. The interests of including guests in all the good the interior are closely bound up with those of Prince Ru-times they had. pert. If one makes progress, so does the other. We respectfully suggest to the people here that they keep in to the A.Y.P.A. by requesting the visitors to give the associa close touch with the activities of the country districts and tion three cheers. Judging by the see that they are served well and their interests looked response the A.Y.P.A. must be after in the best possible manner.

POLITICAL SITUATION

The political situation is bound to attract attention at its inception in 1930. this time. In Skeena E. T. Kenney is probably surer of his words of timely advice to the seat than any northern candidate. In passing around his young people in regard to their constituency it was found that his activity in the legis- religious obligations to themlature and out and his efforts to serve people of all parties selves, to their church and to has made a deep impression on the communities he repreties.

In Omineca, Mark Connelly states that he will be re- zest of the program which was turned by an even larger majority than he obtained at the ing of "Auld Lang Syne." last election. REDUCING NUMBER OF MEMBERS

If the Conservative party should secure a majority of members in the legislature at the present election they are pledged to reduce the number of constituencies in the province which, doubtless, will mean a reduction in the number for northern and central British Columbia. It is suggested that this would probably mean lopping off Atlin and throwing it in with Prince Rupert and eliminating either Omineca or Skeena and making one large riding there. The northern representation of six would possibly be reduced to three or four. This would very greatly increase the cost of campaigning in those constituencies and would make it very difficult for men who were not The Morning After Taking large capitalists to become candidates. That would mean Carter's Little Liver Pills the hands of big money interests, a plain step away from true democracy.

We do not know what the saving in the cost of government would be by making the proposed reduction. It would throw the cost of elections on the candidates who would be asked to bear a considerable part of the cost of the change.

with musical honors played by 1936 Miss Jean McLean. Following this Mr. Yerburgh took the opportunlity to make a few remarks out lining the aims of the A.Y.P.A. These aims were worship, work, fellowship and edification. Durling the year the branch had tried to fulfil these as well as possible.

The worship has taken the form of church services attended by the members on several occasions and a devotional opening at weekly meetings. For work a tea was given. The proceeds of which went partly to the church! and partly to the building of an Indian residential school at Moose Factory, the construction of which was being undertaker lmost entirely by the Dominion Y.P.A. Fellowship had been obtained through parties, picnics and the banquet at which friend: had been invited to join in the program. The last aim, edification, had been carried out by addresses given by various speakers throughout the year as well las by dramatic evenings and evenings devoted to physical train ing. In closing Mr. Yerburgh thanked all the members of the $5.00 branch on behalf of the retiring 10 executive for their loyal and 900 staunch support during the year

Ernest Meadows gave the toast 300 to the church in which he appeal. ed to the young people to make an effort to come more often to God's House. The Dean responded to the toast and, in a few words outlined the need of young people in the life of the church. PATTULLO'S DETERMINATION Has Brought Results

Premier Pattullo when elected to office demanded two important things:

- 1. That British Columbia must receive its JUST RIGHTS under the terms of Confederation.
- 2. That the B. N. A. Act must be revised!

His demands that the British North America Act should be revised were scoffed at and ridiculed, from one end of Canada to the other. He has persistently fought for the equitable settlement of this issue. Today all Canada agrees that the British' North America Act must be revised. Pattullo's demands for a proper recognition under Confederation were so effective that the Bennett Government granted an interim annual payment of $750,000.00, or a recognition of British Columbia's claim of 5% on $15,000,000. He has determinedly fought for a Royal Commission to investigate the rights of British Columbia within Confederation. The Mackenzie King government has acceded to his persistent urging and has authorized such commission.

The Public of British Columbia should realize that the issuing of this commission is the most important step from British Columbia's standpoint since Confederation.

Millions are involved. The future of our Province and of the Municipalities is at stake. The Pattullo Government has been preparing British Columbia's case since taking office.

British Columbia asks no favors, but under Pattullo demands its rights.

British Columbia voters cannot afford to take a chance in making any change until this important issue has been determined.
