Junior Chamber Movement Strong In This Province

The Junior Chamber of Comherce movement has caught on in British Columbia more generally than in any other part of Canada, according to figures read t a meeting of the local junior chamber last night from Don Morrell of Montreal, the secretaryreasurer of the Dominion body. There are thirty-four junior chambers in Canada with 4000 members. In British Columbia there are ten junior chambers with 950 members. This exceeds any other province in the Dominon, even Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Morrell's communication to the local chamber referred to such national problems as civil service systems, taxation, French-English relationships, youth movement. transCanada highway, the drought situation and the Canadian flag which might be taken up by Junjior chambers this year. A committee of the local chamber will be designated to follow these matters

Mr. Morrell presented a report of the recent convention in Vancouver.

OF THE DESERTED KITCHEN

THERE was no one in the kitchen. A number of fresh, crusty-brown loaves and a batch of delicious looking rolls were the only evidence that it was baking day-although it was at a time when baking operations would normally be in full swing. Where was the housewife?

Had she risen earlier than usual, to get her baking finished so soon? Had she retired worn out from her work?

As a matter of fact, the housewife has gone to town. She hadn't risen any earlier than usual, she isn't the slightest bit tired - and there isn't any mystery about it. She merely uses Quaker Flour and The Quaker Easy Method of Bread Baking.

You too can get in on this secret. and out of your kitchen if you will just write to The Quaker Oats Company, Department 8-67,

Saskatoon, Sask., for their FREE booklet telling you how to bake better bread and rolls in half the time with hardly any work at all.

From the Waterfront

With a good-sized list of pessengers, C.N.R. steamer Prince George. Capt. H. E. Nedden, arrived in H. F. Noel, well known Smithers port on time at 10:30 this morning time henceforth in arriving from the south Wednesday as the call at her return to Ketchikan.

The question of whether or not University extension lectures hould again be sponsored here at last night's meeting of the Jun-or Chamber of Commerce. It was decided to conduct further negotiations with the University of British Columbia authorities in regard to the fees for such lectures before taking any action. The difficulty of financing the lectures last winter was recalled.
