ALICE ARM ROAD WORK

Prospectors Developing Claims To Make New Mines

Reports from Alice Arm would indicate that the Public Works Department is doing efficient work in that district with roads trails and bridges.

Mine operators in the Kitsault Valley are pleased with improvements made for transportation and are confident of making mines there that will justify monies spent for lowering mining costs.

Falconer and his associates will soon have another shipment of high grade ore at the Dolly Varden for the smelter.

Morris Peterson is working the Vanguard and is stacking up some nice ore.

Archie McPhail has a good showing of silver-lead ore on the Tye. He is carrying out intensive development work on his ground this summer.

Another property on the Kitsault that is responding to intelligent work, is the Summit, owned by Arne Davidson. He is doing consistent work on his claims and is getting results.

The Homestake, which is situated in the upper Kitsault valley, is responding to extensive surface work. Six men are employed at stripping their big ore zone, and the management is highly pleased as the ore appears to be of better grade. No assays have been made of new ore discovered. It is their intention to continue the main development tunnel another 150 feet.

ed in the south of the province with respect to the north. This was a spirit which was difficult to overcome. Very few people of the south cared anything about the north. Ridiculous claims were made as to the amount which the south contributed in taxes. Vancouver would say seventy-five percent and Victoria thirty-five percent or between them 100 percent without taking the rest of the province into account whatever. The Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia, now in session in Prince Rupert, had a work of self-defence to carry on in addition to its efforts to bring about the development of natural resources which were second to none in any other part of Canada.

In addition to the address by Mr. Kenney, the luncheon program included vocal solos, "Captain Kidd" and "Smilin' Thru," by Dr. R. G. Large, accompanied by C. P. Balagno. Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, president of the club was in the chair. Guests included delegates to the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia as follows: Roderick MacKenzie and H. C. Richardson of Williams Lake. Earl Malcolm and C. H. Allison of Quesnel; W. L. Armstrong of Harry Bowman and J. O. Wilson of Prince George. George Ogston and Sam Cocker of Vanderhoof. H. H. Griffin of Smithers, E. T. Kenney, R. W. Riley and Harry King of Terrace and S. E. Parker, J. J. Little, Arthur Brooksbank, W. M. Blackstock, P. M. Ray and Peter Lakie of Prince Rupert.

TALE IS BIZARRE

"Lost Horizon," one of the outstanding picture productions of the year, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for a special three-day engagement commencing tonight. The cast which portrays this bizarre plot of mystic Tibet from James Hilton's novel of the same name includes such luminaries as Ronald Coleman, Jane Wyatt, Edward Everett Horton, Isabel Jewell, H. B. Warner and John Howard.

In the story a small group of white travellers is caught up in the fury of a Chinese rebellion. They find seeming safety in an airplane piloted by a native but discover too late that they are being flown into the interior of Asia. The plane crashes and the pilot is killed whereupon the survivors learn that they are in a mystically idyllic place where time stands still and peace is perpetual. Fantastic events occur in the lives of these extraordinary people. The visitors are made captive and their leader falls in love with the age-old and ageless woman who holds them prisoner. Eventually he is elevated to the position of Lama. Persuaded by his brother, he escapes only to decide ultimately to return to the allurements of the strange land.

The story is presented in a novel way and the picture is entirely new in type and method of production.
