PARTY FOR MRS. MARSH

of Pioneer Missionary Honored by Terrace Community Before Leaving

The many friends of Mrs. Marsh, widow of the late Canon T. J. Marsh, assembeld Friday evening in the Anglican Hall at Terrace in afternoon on the Princess Louise a Farewell gathering to wish her well for the years to come.

Mrs. Marsh and her daughter, Mrs. James Farquhar, have been packing up the past several days to leave Terrace. Mrs. Marsh having sold the old home, is now planning to take up residence in Vancouver.

There was a large gathering. Rev. C. A. Hinchliffe, the present vicar, spoke on behalf of the Anglican community.

Refreshments were served after which Mrs. West presented Mrs. Marsh with a gift from the members of the Women's Auxiliary to which Mrs. Marsh made suitable

The late Rev. and Mrs. Marsh came to Terrace twenty-nine years ago, Mr. Marsh being the first missionary to come to the lower Skeena. At that time pioneer conditions prevailed and, when the railway construction was in progress, Mr. Marsh proved himself capable of meeting those rough here are Persian Lamb who remember him can attest to Cliff Rogers, comptroller of the his amiable and broadminded char- Yukon and White Pass Route, and actor, he was quite at ease in any Mrs. Rogers were here aboard the sort of company and, as a conse- Princess Louise yesterday afternoon quence, he did much good work going through from Skagway among the transient people of those their home in Seattle.
