DEEP SEA SPORT FISHING

While sportsmen around Prince Rupert are keen on trout fishing, visitors from interior points would be much interested in catching one or two salmon for themselves if they only knew how easy it was to do this off Prince Rupert. These fish could be packed in ice and shipped without any difficulty to almost any part of the continent.

Deep sea fishing is for Prince Rupert a purely commercial activity but to many it would be the best kind of sport. Some day tourists will be persuaded to stop off here and make a trip to Dundas or Wark Canal and catch a salmon or two. The cost would be very moderate compared with what it costs to get fish in some parts of the world.

TOO BAD ABOUT KHTADA

The arrival of the airplane may spell death and destruction to the trout in Khtada and other lakes of the district. There are plenty of fish in Khtada just now and they are likely to last for several years but, once it becomes generally known that for a matter of fifty dollars a party can be taken to the lake, fish and return next day we look to see the number of visitors increased to such an extent that it will become much more difficult to get a basket of trout than it is today. What protects the lake today is the difficulty of getting there by boat and the four-mile hike through the muskeg. Take away these difficulties and the fish will be reduced in numbers rapidly.

TO AID SPANISH DEMOCRACY

The Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy with headquarters at Toronto has just issued a statement showing the sum of $32,595 received and all but about one thousand dollars of it expended on cash, food and clothing sent to Spain, about three thousand dollars expended on printed material, one thousand on meetings and slightly over two thousand on travelling expenses. Administration expenses have amounted to $2,774.

There are many who do not consider the type of government set up or about to be set up by the Spaniards, a democracy. Neither do the insurgents plan a democracy, at any rate not for several years to come. The whole dispute is much involved and, while the sentiment in Canada is undoubtedly in favor of the Spanish government, there is also a strong feeling in favor of the insurgents. Had it not been for the doubt in the popular mind as to whether the loyalists really stood for a democracy as we understand it, the response to the appeal would have been much greater and Canadian newspaper support would have been forthcoming to a much larger degree than is apparent today. The average Canadian will not help a socialist dictatorship any more than he will a fascist dictatorship.

SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL PREPARES TO TAKE TRIAL SPIN IN NEW SPEEDBOAT

Since Sir Malcolm Campbell agreed not to indulge in car racing any more, the urge for a life of speed and more speed must have got the best of him, for he has now built a new speedboat. He named it the Bluebird after the car in which he drove to a world's land speed record. Once preliminary checking was finished by his staff of mechanics, he donned a safety belt and shot off on a trial run across Loch Lomond. Here Sir Malcolm is seen in his new boat in which he hopes to win the world's water speed record for Britain.

Sandbox Contest Was Interesting

McClymont Park Declared Winner
—Projects are Very Ingenious

Yesterday afternoon the second sandbox contest was held at Gyro playgrounds and, despite the weather, all the parks turned in very interesting projects. The judging was done by C. D. Morgan of Vancouver and J. J. Little and F. Dibb who unanimously placed McClymont Park first, Acropolis second, Seal Cove and Westview third and fourth respectively.

McClymont Park portrayed a fishing village with practically every detail including rocky coastline, a lighthouse, a fishing boat complete with net and buoys, a church with a graveyard, flowers and crosses, a general store and post office, a rural school house with a baseball diamond, an elevated reservoir, a rack of nets drying and a dugout canoe. The general aspect of the whole plan was very realistic indeed.

Acropolis Hill Park portrayed a small city—streets laid out with telephone poles and wires, a bank, a church, a school with children, a vacant lot for sale, an elaborate apartment house with driveways, lawns, hedges, trees, flower beds, vehicles on the streets and a Gyro playground equipped with ponds apparatus, etc.

Seal Cove project consisted of a three-ring circus including barkers, sideshows, wild animals, wild animal trainers, equestrian performers, etc. A village built of sand could be seen surrounding it.

West View playground had chosen its own surroundings as a subject and miniature playground equipment was cleverly made from old umbrella frames, spring washers, window glass, string and whittled bits of wood.

On Friday next the playgrounds will hold a soap carving contest at the Gymnasium Building.

MISS MOONEY APPRECIATED

Hospital Board Pays Tribute to Retiring Operating Supervisor—
Successor Coming from Vancouver

The board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, at its regular monthly meeting last night, on motion of W. M. Brown, seconded by G. V. Wilkinson, decided to have a letter written to Miss Phyllis M. Mooney R.N., who has resigned as operating room supervisor after ten years' service and is leaving for London, England, expressing appreciation of her long and splendid record of service for the hospital and regret at her departure. On all hands, tribute was paid to the splendid work of Miss Mooney. The board was advised of Miss Mooney's resignation by the lady superintendent, Miss Jean Harrison R.N., who was among those expressing regret at her departure.

Miss Harrison announced that Miss Mooney's successor was to be Margaret Brewster R.N. of Vancouver. Miss Brewster is a graduate of the Vancouver General Hospital and for a number of years has been occupying responsible hospital positions in Hong Kong and Canton, China, specializing in operating room and obstetrical work. Miss Brewster will arrive here within the next week or so to assume her duties and, meantime, Mrs. Peter Fisher will have charge of the local operating room.

Miss Harrison, in her monthly report, spoke of the question of relief and stated that, due to various emergencies including the necessity of having had to re-open the isolation hospital on account of scarlet fever, illness among the staff, etc., it had been necessary to bring three nurses from Vancouver — Misses Alice Foster, Jean Matheson and M. J. McDonald—all of whom had arrived yesterday. In the course of discussion, appreciation was expressed to local married nurses who had come to the assistance of the hospital at various times when relief was urgently needed. The board was, however, opposed to anything in the way of married nurses being on the permanent staff which Miss Harrison gave assurance was not the case.

Music and singing was very much enjoyed by all after which a nicely decorated carriage was wheeled in laden with many beautiful and useful gifts, and presented to the bride-to-be who graciously thanked all those present.

Delicious refreshments were served at midnight by the hostess, Miss Cecile Cavenale, assisted by Mrs. H. McLean and Miss Kazu Nishio.

Those present were Mrs. Cavenale, Mrs. N. M. McLean, Mrs. A. Murray, Mrs. H. McLean, and the Misses Rita McLean, Ruth Gillies, Cecile Cavenale, Gwen Palmer, Edna Gillies, Violet Stamp-Vincent, Kazu Nishio, Mary Geary, Jean Dalzell, Mae Murray, Tarjor Rystad, Audrey Viereck, Violet Cavenale, and Margaret Sievert.

ANGLING IS GOOD

Fishermen are Getting Real Sport
At Jasper Park

JASPER PARK, Aug. 14: — Fishermen in search of real angling sport are this year having a great season in the various lakes in this vicinity. Ever since the season opened some excellent catches have been reported, especially in the Maligne Lake, Medicine Lake and Beaver Lake areas. It was these lakes that attracted so much attention a few years ago when they were stocked with fingerling speckled trout. The experiment proved so successful that firm, fighting speckled trout up to three pounds have been caught on both troll and fly this summer. Rainbow trout in the Tonquin and Athabasca valleys have also provided fishermen with excellent sport.

Guests from many parts of the United States and Canada at the Lodge this year have spent considerable time fishing and have been so successful that the fishing rod is running the golf club a very close race in the summer popularity contest.
