with the ending of the sockeye season, all other canneries remaining in operation for at least a week longer. The pink run is slow in developing in Prince Rupert with a light run as had been expected for this brood year.

With only 85,500 pounds of Canadian fish from three boats, halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the past week were light at a total of 361,500 pounds, 276,000 pounds of which was from American vessels. This brings the grand total for the season to date up to 9,722,250 pounds as compared with 7,938,800 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The Canadian total so far this year is 5,262,250 pounds in comparison with 4,549,700 pounds a year ago while the American aggregate is 4,460,000 pounds as against last year's 3,389,100 pounds.
