

Bernice Palmer says . . .

Even family amusement here has become classified and this is how it goes: Tuesday night mother goes to the show and gets a dish, (ladies' ovenware night), Wednesday Dad goes and hopes to make his dreams come true (Bank Night, and Friday and Saturday the whole family goes and plays Screeno—it's a great gag, but fills the theatres and lines stand outside the doors waiting for the wicket to open an hour or more before the time. Those who don't stand on the sidewalk take a chance on having to stand through two feature pictures, one comedy, one news reel and numerous advertisements.

Ovenware night is just as popular as Bank Night as every woman present is there with the resolve of completing her set of dishes (never met anyone who has) and so, through good pictures or bad, she sits every Tuesday night for 36 weeks. Most of them though like myself, end up with as heterogeneous set of dishes as ever graced a table. You probably will have far more olive dishes than soup plates and bean pots than cups and saucers.

And while we are on movies—wait until you see America's newest heart-throb—Fernand Gravel—in "The King and the Chorus Girl." He does things to your heart with that smile of his and, for those maidens who give a second thought to romance by remote control, what a thrill! CHEERIO.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLeod and child of London, Ontario, arrived in the city on Monday afternoon's train from the east to pay a visit here with Mr. McLeod's mother, Mrs. D. McLeod, Sixth Avenue West.

Official Visit To Oddfellows

Provincial Grand Master, William Carmichael of Nanaimo, Received Last Night

An official visit to the local Oddfellows' Lodge was paid last night by William Carmichael of Nanaimo, Provincial Grand Master. Following the lodge meeting, there was a social gathering in which the Rebekahs joined. There were speeches by Mr. Carmichael and by Mrs. Horace Tattersal, district deputy grand president of the Rebekahs, and H. M. Daggett, district deputy grand master of Oddfellows. Chairman was Norman McGlashan, vice grand of Oddfellows, in the absence from the city of the noble grand, James Hadden. Community singing was enjoyed and Misses Jean McLean and Ruth Nelson played piano solos. Dancing was indulged in and delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael leave on this evening's train for Jasper and will return here, visiting Prince George, Smithers and Terrace enroute.

Fine Picnic By Terrace Legion

Enjoyable Outing Held at Lakelse Lake on Sunday

TERRACE, Aug. 11.—The Terrace branch of the Canadian Legion organized a picnic Sunday at Lakelse Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Agar, themselves members of the Legion, kindly lent their lakeside summer home for the occasion. Trucks and cars assembled at 10 o'clock in the village and sixty-three merry-makers made the trip.

The day was spent pleasantly as might be expected, the kiddies splashing in the shallow sandy bay while the old folks played, or attempted to play, football. The veterans showed surprising energy and skill at the game, one grey-headed centre forward scoring no fewer than sixteen goals in this in spite of the prodigious defence put up by the one-legged goal keeper, who on occasion had recourse to his crutch.

There was boating and canoeing too and the ladies made busy to provide such a spread as is not often enjoyed.

Secretary Herbert proposed a toast to the host and hostess. He thought such a successful affair certainly ought to become an annual event. Captain J. B. Colhurst, in his usual happy manner, congratulated the athletic veterans on their prowess in the football field, although he thought the high jump recorded at the sports held during the afternoon was not so much. Two feet one would not look much in print.

The weather was fine, the refreshments were exceptionally good and everybody agreed that the day had been an unqualified success.

F. S. Walton, roadmaster for the Canadian National Railways, who has been on a vacation trip to Vancouver and Vancouver Island returned to the city on the Prince Rupert this morning.
