Fire Ranger's Idea Brought Valuable Objective and More Social Life for Children

BURNS LAKE, Sept. 24:—Isolation of children in British Columbia's interior drew from the mind of a logger an idea that has given the province a volunteer conservation corps headed by Lord Tweedsmuir.

Eight years ago smiling William C. Saunders, district fire ranger at Palling, 12 miles west of here, was worried by two things, the prevalence of forest fires and the small size of the schools, averaging about 10 pupils each and situated so far apart the children had no opportunity of meeting each other.

Hoping to provide the children with healthful outdoor recreation and to implant in their minds a zeal that would save the province's great timber stands from destruction, Saunders founded the Young Ranger Bands with his own children, Clarence and Peggy, the original members.

Now a Young Ranger Band exists in almost every school of the interior. Groups are formed of five bands each which meet annually for athletic and woodcraft competitions.

First group was formed in the Burns Lake area and for six years thereafter the district had no forest fires. This year a minor fire was detected by the Burns Lake band. One of the band's girls members borrowed an automobile and rushed to Burns Lake to inform Fire Ranger Walter Wilson. Two other girls obtained saddle horses and two more pack horses which they moved to the highway point closest to the fire.

When Wilson reached the scene with his pumping apparatus he was able to move it immediately into the woods where he found every other member of the Young Ranger Band already fighting the blaze. The damage was negligible.

Organization Grows

Since the early days when the Saunders children were the band's only members the organization has grown throughout most of the province. The governor-general became honorary chief ranger this summer, heading 200 members in North America and the United Kingdom. Among the patrons is Hon. Wells Gray, British Columbia minister of lands.

This summer the Burns Lake Band acquired the Wells Gray Young Ranger Island in the lake that gives the town its name. On the island is a cabin built by members of the band with money they raised themselves. It was declared open in August by Lord Tweedsmuir during a ceremony in which he was initiated into the band.

Credit for the island resort idea is given Fire Ranger Wilson who directed a clean-up operation on the island in which the band removed dead timber that littered the ground, reminder of Canadian Northern Railway construction work when the district was swept by fire.

GREAT TALE IS FILMED

Sir Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines" Seen on Screen Here This Week-end

Rider Haggard's great adventure story "King Solomon's Mines" comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here as the week-end feature attraction. It is a British picture and has an outstanding cast including such favorites as Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Roland Young, Anna Lee, John Loder and Paul Robeson.

"King Solomon's Mines" tells the story of a group of English adventurers, led by a giant Zulu guide, who penetrate a mysterious country ruled by an evil-eyed Zulu tyrant in search of the famous mines. The guide reveals himself to be a claimant to the throne usurped by the tyrant. The white men take his side and participate in a fierce battle that ensues. Many perils and adventures await the gallant crew. The pace is fast, the acting is superb and the African scenes are magnificent.

The picture stays close to the lines of the original story, departing from it only to add to the love interest. The native scenes were actually filmed in the heart of Zululand. Battle scenes with thousands of natives fighting to the death, perils of jungle and desert and the finding of the fabulous diamond mines of Ophir are among the thrills of the picture.

KITSEGUKLA

A flower sale and social was held in the United Church on Saturday night. Rev. Bishop Black opened the meeting and Joshua Ridley acted as auctioneer. A goodly display of artificial flowers made by the local ladies were quickly disposed of to the highest bidders. Afterwards, coffee, cakes and pie were served by the Ladies' Aid. These were enjoyed by all. Those left over were later sold by auction. The proceeds of the social which amounted to $23 will be donated to the Church Renovation Fund.

Rev. Dr. S. S. Osterhout of Vancouver, the superintendent of missions for the B. C. Conference of the United Church of Canada, paid an official visit to Kitsegukla. Dr. Osterhout conferred on business matters with the pastor, Rev. Bishop Black and the Church Board. He expressed himself as pleased with the work being done in Kitsegukla. He was the guest of the Rev. B. Black for the day. He left on Saturday evening's train for Port Eslington.

Rev. D. W. More of Hazelton, was in Kitsegukla on Saturday conferring with Dr. Osterhout on business connected with the work of the United Church in the district.
