Telegraph Greetings Proving Popular

Business is Larger Than it Was a Year Ago, Company Reports

WINNIPEG, Dec. 21.—Advance reports of messages filed from the various Canadian telegraph offices indicate that the Christmas greeting telegram is steadily increasing in its popular appeal. Special facilities for the sending of Christmas greetings by wire are offered by both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telegraphs.

"Latest reports available from our offices indicate that considerably more Christmas greeting messages have been filed to date for later transmission than had been received at this time last year," said J. G. Davies, general superintendent, Canadian National Telegraphs, western region.

The economical rates which have been placed in effect by the communication companies for Christmas greeting telegrams of pre-arranged text or personal message to points on this continent and for cable greetings overseas (including a new rate for a minimum of ten words to points in the British Empire, are so designed that they bring this service within the reach of every purse stated Mr. Davies.
