DAILY EDITION.

FRIDAY, DEC. 8

A SOLEMN WARNING TO THE JOURNAL.

Ever since the day that the Journal accommodated The News with mechanical assistance at a time when we were reorganising our plant, The News has had a soft spot in its heart for the Journal. Any little differences of editorial opinion we all have are looked on with calm, nay, generous, emotions.

But there comes a time when it is necessary to sacrifice friendship on the altar of duty. The Journal is free to plead for higher pay for the City Solicitor, or to chide us for not growing enthusiastic over the virtues of the aldermen. We will stand for it without a murmur. But when the Journal announces its recent Sunday edition as "December 26, 1911," it is clearly time to call a halt. This is one of the boldest pieces of misrepresentation that has ever appeared in the Journal.

It is of no use for the editor of the Journal to plead that he had a "morning after" feeling and guessed it was the 26th. Such an explanation ill becomes a good Methodist. Coming so closely after his being honored by a position on the Conservative executive, the public will not be so easily satisfied that the incident is not part of some political plot to deceive the electors.

But the electors will not be deceived. The plot, though daring in conception, and carried out with a bold effrontery worthy of a better cause, will be doomed to defeat. The children who now sit round with copies of the Journal of "Dec. 26th, 1911," in one hand and tear-laden handkerchiefs in the other—mourning the fact that Christmas has passed and Santa Claus has failed to put in an appearance—may dry their tears. The plot has failed.

The Journal still is entitled to a warm place in our affections. It can borrow a galley of type or a monkey wrench or our umbrella at any time without notice. But it must not attempt to bluff the people of Prince Rupert out of their Christmas.

HOW TO KILL YOUR TOWN.

- Kick. Kick kicking. And don't quit kicking. One pull one way and one t'other. Send to other towns and buy your goods. Denounce your merchants because they make a profit on their goods. Knife every man who disagrees with you on your method of doing business. Refuse to unite in any scheme for the betterment of the material interests of the people. Tell your merchant that you can buy your goods a great deal cheaper in another town and charge him with extortion. Keep every cent you get, and don't do anything of a public nature unless you can make something out of it directly. When you say anything of your town say it in such a way that it will leave the impression that you have no faith in it. Patronize outside newspapers to the exclusion of your own, and denounce your own for not being as large as the bigger city papers.—Plumas Standard.

WRITING LOVE LETTERS

Some People Say That It Is Lost Art Among Modern Men.

Criticism has not been lacking against the alleged degeneracy of modern love letters. We are told that they are less frequent, shorter and less sincere than their predecessors. On the first two of these counts there may be some grounds for complaint, and the reason is easy to find. For the average young man the business of making a living must necessarily absorb nearly all his time, and—if he is to succeed—the greater part of his attention and thought. Moreover, when he becomes engaged he accepts the responsibility of providing not only for his own needs but also for her's whose comfort and happiness are, or should be, the great care of his life.

It has been suggested that an engaged man should spend at least an hour a day writing to his fiancée; but the sensible girl will remember that an earnest and diligent application to business and to the improvement of his position is far more convincing evidence of the sincerity of her lover's affection than all the letters he could ever write. Far more love can be expressed in an hour's hard work than in half a dozen sheets of notepaper.

FIRST: "CATCH YOUR PRINTER" DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING A HARE: FIRST—"CATCH YOUR HARE" To produce good printing you must "first catch your good printer. . . You can't get good printing from a poor printer, even if he work with never so good an equipment. If he lacks the "knack," the trained taste, the single-minded fondness for his work which real printers have, he will do poor printing for you. If he has all of these, and in addition to them adequate modern equipment, your printing will have distinction, salesmanship, the lure of type-beauty.
