KINCOLITH MARRIAGE

KINCOLITH, Oct. 6: - The wedding of John Graham Moore, son of William Moore, Canyon City, and Sarah Laura Nelson, daughter of Arthur Nelson sr., Kincolith, took place at the Kincolith church on Saturday afternoon last. The Greenville Band, under the leadership of Fred Mackay, escorted first the bridegroom, then the bride, to the church. The weather was fine and, under the bright October sunshine, all looked their best, particularly the bride and bridesmaids, all dressed in white and bearing flowers.

After the ceremony, a banquet was served in the Jubilee Hall at which over 150 guests were seated. Many friends from up the river were welcomed, from Aiyansh, Canyon City, and Greenville. The band rendered several fine numbers, opening with the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." After the supper speakers voiced their appreciation of the presence of the band and extended congratulations, tempered with good advice, to the happy couple.

Later in the evening a dance was held, festivities continuing until midnight. The bride and bridegroom are to reside in Kincolith.

William Lambie returned to the city from Vancouver on the Prince George this morning.

Little Business At Terrace Tax Sale

TERRACE, Oct. 6: - Last Thursday saw the usual municipal tax sale of Terrace lots on which taxes are delinquent. It speaks well for the district that there were only three lots on the list and these were soon disposed of.

Major L. Bullock-Webster of Victoria, early resident of Prince Rupert and one time alderman here, will arrive on tomorrow night's train after a trip through the interior visiting Smithers, Hazelton and Terrace. He is organizing drama associations and will address a meeting here with that end in view. Major Bullock-Webster was an alderman here when Premier T. D. Pattullo was mayor. He is president of the British Columbia Drama Association.

SIMPSON WEDDING

Miss Lydia Hayward Becomes Bride of Robert Sampson Recently

PORT SIMPSON, Oct. 6: - The marriage took place here of Miss Lydia Hayward and Robert Sampson, Rev. W. C. Colwell, pastor of Knox United Church, officiated at the ceremony which took place before a large assembly in the Epworth League Hall.

The bride, given in marriage by Ambrose Reid, entered the hall to the strains of the Wedding March played by Miss Farrell of the Port Simpson General Hospital nursing staff. The matron of honor was Mrs. E. F. Dudoward while there were five bridesmaids - Mrs. William White, Mrs. Dora White, Mrs. Herbert Bryant, Miss Mabel Hayward and Miss Dora Alexee. Little four-year old Beatrice Sampson was flower girl. Groomsmen were Alf Wesley, Harry Simpson, William Whiye, Thomas White, Herbert Bryant and Eli Tait.

After the ceremony, a reception took place in Y. P. E. A. Hall where there was a banquet spread and dance with William Kelly as master of ceremonies. The band played the Wedding March and speakers were Peter Wesley, Eli Pollard and Ambrose Reid, whose remarks were appropriate to the happy occasion. The festivities lasted until midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Sampson will reside in Port Simpson.

John Manson, who has been on a trip to Vancouver, returned to the city from the south on the Prince George this morning.

FANTASIA IN FILMS

H. G. Wells "The Man Who Could Work Miracles" is Being Featured at Capitol

"The Man Who Could Work Miracles," a comedy-drama based on H. G. Wells' fantasy of the same name, is the main feature of a double bill program to be presented at the Capitol Theatre here at the middle of this week. Roland Young, in the title role, plays the part of an obscure and ridiculed draper's assistant around whom the action is largely centred. Almost incredible things occur to this ordinary and everyday individual. There are moments of lively comedy followed by exceedingly dramatic situations. Young handles both with great effect. Photographic tricks are one of the features of the picture. There is also notable costuming. The picture is a British production.

Betty Furness, Stuart Erwin, Robert Armstrong and Edmund Gwenn head the cast of "All American Chump," the other end of the double bill. Stuart Erwin has the major part in the story as a small town human adding machine who becomes bridge champion of the world. Gwenn, British favorite, plays the part of a carnival shell game operator who finds himself manager of the new Culbertson. Armstrong is a hard-boiled side-show barker who discovers Erwin and takes him under his wing. Betty Furness as the object of Erwin's adored affections.
