

The Dream of Boys and the Ambition of Men is to Travel 'ROUND THE WORLD

"Take me somewhere east of Suez
Where the best is like the worst."

How would you like at this moment to be reclining under the awnings of a palatial steamship, sailing through sunny seas to sunny lands? Nothing to do but smoke your pipe and dream. Or in the soft, velvety night, under the southern cross, with the warm land breeze fanning your cheek, gliding along enchanted shores to the music of throbbing engines and the swish of phosphorescent waters.

To the traveler the fascination of the Far East is beyond the power of expression. There is an indefinable charm in the life and customs of a people whose civilization was old before ours was born. The following are just a few of the places to be seen.

JAPAN

JAPAN—The wonder of the nineteenth century, whose achievements in war and peace have won the admiration of the world.

CHINA

CHINA—Like a huge giant slowly awakening from a long sleep. Japan's commotion has disturbed the Flowery Kingdom—the seeds of western civilization have been sown and now we await the harvest.

INDIA

INDIA—"The brightest jewel in the British crown," with its marvelous history of blood and treasure, its black hole of Calcutta, its massacre of Cawnpore, its siege and relief of Lucknow, where "ever on the topmost roof the banner of England flew" and where "Havelock and his Highlanders" went through "blood and fire" to the rescue of the beleaguered garrison.

CEYLON

CEYLON—The isle of spicy breezes and tea plantations.

THE RED SEA

THE RED SEA—Who has not read the story of Moses, the emancipator of his people, leading the Children of Israel from the land of the oppressor? How the Egyptians with their chariots and horses were swallowed up in the waters of the Red Sea.

THE SUEZ CANAL

THE SUEZ CANAL—Through which pass the ships of all nations.

PORT SAID

PORT SAID—"The wickedest place in the world."

EGYPT

EGYPT—The land of the Pharaoh and of the Nile. The land of the pyramids, from whose height "forty centuries look down upon you" and likewise upon the grave of many a valiant "soldier of the Queen." Aboukir Bay, the scene of the battle of the Nile, immortalised by the famous poem "Casabianca."

"The boy, oh, where was he?

Ask of the winds that far around

With fragments strewed the sea

With mast and helm and pennant fair

That well had borne their part.

But the noblest thing that perished there

Was that young faithful heart."

THE MEDITERRANEAN

THE MEDITERRANEAN—Which floated the navies of Greece and Rome in their time.

GIBRALTAR

GIBRALTAR—The frowning evidence and symbol of British power.

LONDON

LONDON—The world's greatest city.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK—The home of John D. Rockefeller and Christy Mathewson.

Then home again to your own fireside, where on the long winter nights you may in fancy travel again to strange lands and see strange sights.
