The Political Prospect

The political prospect as indicated from many sources is that the Liberal party under Hon. T. D. Pattullo will be returned to power at the election next Tuesday. The real fight seems to be as to whether the Conservatives or the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will be the official opposition.

The indications also point to the election of Mr. Pattullo in Prince Rupert. Word received from the Islands is that the Premier will get more than half of the vote there, that he will get a good majority in the city and that the other outlying points will give at least a plurality.

In view of the fact that Mr. Pattullo will still be Premier after the election, it would be suicidal for his home constituency to defeat him. He could have been elected in a dozen places in the south but he trusted Prince Rupert and he believes Prince Rupert trusts him in spite of the speeches of wily politicians who distort the truth and make things seem like what they are not.

Cut Down Costs

If by any chance the Conservatives should take the place of the Liberals at Victoria, as some few people predict, they are pledged to cut down expenditures and in what easier way could it be done than by shutting down the work on the highway east of Prince Rupert? We suggest that, if the people of Prince Rupert want work to continue, they vote for Hon. T. D. Pattullo, the man who is pledged to secure a better deal from the Dominion so that more money will be available for opening up the province by means of highways.

What Rockefeller Did

John D. Rockefeller was a pioneer in co-operation and he proved to the world that huge corporations can be successful in business. In doing this he proved that, if necessary, large industries might be carried on successfully by governments as long as they were conducted on purely business lines.

Rockefeller's idea was that it was useless to try to help people. What the mass of the people needed was to be taught to help themselves. He said: "There is no feeling in the world, I think, to be compared with self-reliance. Do not sacrifice that for anything else." And again: "If the people can be educated to help themselves, we strike at the roots of many of the evils of the world."

In giving away part of his vast fortune, Mr. Rockefeller made himself ill studying methods and schemes for giving without pauperizing the recipients. A small part of this money is being used in paying the costs of the university extension lectures from which Prince Rupert benefitted last winter.

Some of Rockefeller's sayings have survived. Here are one or two of them:

"Do not grow old before your time. Maintain an interest in life and in all living things."

"Live within your means. One of the swiftest toboggans I know is for a young man just starting in life to run into debt."

"I believe in man and the brotherhood of man and am confident everything will come out for the good of all in the end."

THE POLITICAL ISSUE

Editor, Daily News: The average zealot, enthused by the two newcomers in the political field, C.C.F. and Social Credit, thinks that they are the long sought new magical lights which will cure our social ills.

The C.C.F. is a half-baked variety of popular Socialism and Marxism. The latter was experimented with in Russia during the past twenty years and resulted not in Socialism but a capsize form of it, namely State Capitalism.

C.C.F. and Social Credit belong to the variety of sentimental policies known under various names such as "Republic of Plato," "The City of the Sun," "Campanella," Sir Thomas Moore's "Utopia," Robert Owen's "Industrialism," etc.

What then? First of all, our cardinal problem is not one of production or change of ownership of the means of production. What the people are concerned with is not the static legal principle of titles of mills, factories, mines, railroads etc., but in the distributive machinery and the flow of purchasing power and goods which governments, under pressure of events, are already steering in their direction.

The fundamental problems of the day are the relations of wealth and labor, dignity and justice. It is of paramount importance that the activities of production shall not be at the mercy of insatiable appetites, that the regime of distribution shall not be in the hands of trusts, stock exchanges or single individuals but co-ordinated between the rights and needs of the state and the collectivity of the citizens.

The trend of political evolution the world over has definitely supplanted the old idea of Socialism. In the cradle of Socialism an entirely new philosophy is born. The masses have ceased to think in terms of class. They think in terms of national solidarity and social justice.

In the great republic to the south of us, labor has never assumed the aspect of class politics and, under the wise and humane leadership of President Roosevelt, labor of hand and brain will soon cease to be a class fact and assume the expression of national power.

The concept that the state is responsible for national welfare is a generally accepted fact. Events will soon force the state to become the centre of a living reality and establish the mobile equilibrium between production, prices, profits, wages, Wheat Boards, Marketing Acts, People's Banks etc.

Labor, wealth and technique are one and indivisible, the future of civilization demands their full co-operation. Together they will usher the industrial civilization but the highway is not the class appeal but true democracy.

OBSERVER.

CHANGED ALL THAT

Editor, Daily News:

A Conservative article asks what Pattullo has done for Prince Rupert. Those of us who remember the hundreds of men and women who paraded in our streets escorted by the police under the last Tory government about five years ago know quite well that Pattullo has changed all that and, although we are not yet completely out of the depths, we know that it is 100 percent better than it was then.

"OLD PARADER"

Pilot E. C. W. Dobbin was here at the first of the week with his Air Travel and Transport Waco seaplane, having on board three Japanese timbermen from Vancouver—K. Miyake, N. Nakamura and S. Fukawa.

Mrs. W. W. Noonan, wife of the station agent at Endako, was a passenger arriving from the interior on last night's train and sailing on the Prince George for Vancouver.

Smithers Couple Wedded Saturday

Miss Bertha Chapman Becomes Bride of Reginald Collison

SMITHERS, May 28.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the United Church at Smithers Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock when Miss Bertha Chapman became the bride of Reginald J. Collison of Smithers. Rev. L. J. Hales performed the ceremony and the church was filled with the many friends of the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Collison left later in the afternoon by motor for a honeymoon trip through Southern British Columbia and will return in about two weeks.

The bride was head stenographer at the government offices in Smithers where she had been employed for nine years and is the daughter of Mrs. E. S. Arnold of Smithers.

Mr. Collison is a popular member of the Smithers Lumber Yard firm and is one of the younger business men of the town.

Both young people are very well known throughout the Bulkley Valley and their many friends will wish them many long and happy years of wedded life.

Aubrey Ivarson arrived in the city on the Prince George last night from Premier to spend a month or so here visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ivarson.

Man in the Moon

The election campaign is on and nobody seems to be worrying so far.

Jake says he's going to vote C. C. F. so he can join the dictatorship of the proletariat. He says he notices all the members of the C. C. F. want to be dictators.

Dugald was out walking with Janet the other evening and she said: "I love ye Dugald, I love ye so much I'll give ye anything ye like." Dugald thought it over and decided the most useful thing she had was a bicycle so that's why Dugald now rides a woman's bike.

A speaker who had been asked to make his after-dinner remarks as brief as possible, rose and said: "I have been asked to propose the toast of our guest, and I have been told that the less said the better."

"I turned the way I signalled," said the lady, indignantly. "I know it," retorted the man, "that's what fooled me."

It is understood the tax collector is talking of collecting amusement tax from some of the political speakers.

If there is not good government in this province during the next term it will not be for lack of legislative candidates.

Prince Rupert seems to always get the small end. There are a good many similar constituencies with five candidates yet this city can boast only four.

Louis Lebourdais has been keeping the Cariboo in the public eye for a number of years through his old-time stories and now they say he is to be rewarded by making him member for the riding.

Jake declares election stories in Prince Rupert are just as old as those in the Cariboo.

NOBODY ENJOYS TAKING MEDICINE!

Yet most people at some time suffer from common constipation. Why not correct this condition the natural way—by including a ready-to-eat cereal with your daily meals instead of taking weakening pills and drugs?

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds the "bulk" the average system needs. In the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft, spongelike mass—which gently cleans the intestines.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls a day, as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked into appetizing muffins, breads, etc. Three times daily in severe cases.

ALL-BRAN is sold at all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

CEREMONY AT OSLAND

Coronation Day 'Fittingly' Celebrated at Village

OSLAND, May 28.—Coronation Day in Osland was appropriately celebrated by the planting of a Royal oak seedling which had been presented to the settlement by the Department of Agriculture for the occasion.

The ceremony was opened by the school children singing "O Canada." During the planting of the seedling in the school grounds by Mrs. R. Sakamoto, the children, who had grouped themselves about, sang "The Maple Leaf."

Miss Beatrice Webb, acting as chairman, introduced the speakers for the afternoon. F. Kristmanson, in his native Icelandic, and Mrs. S. Yamanaka, in Japanese, spoke eloquently on "Coronation Day to Canadians."

After the presentation of Coronation medals to the children, the ceremony was concluded by all singing "God Save the King."

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. O. Olafson and Mrs. J. Jonsson. Refreshments were donated by the various ladies. The table was charmingly graced by a bouquet of fuschia and maiden-hair fern.

This very enjoyable afternoon was humorously climaxed by the entrance of "Nannie," one of the settlement's well known quadrupeds, who took it into her head to join the gathering in the school-house and test the quality of the table decoration.
