ritish Cruiser Danae is Damaged

CHINESE CAPTURE AND SCUTTLE SIX JAPANESE MERCHANT SHIPS

Dare-devil Chinese forgetful of the danger they ran made a second swift and surprise attack against Japanese shipping and warships in the Whangpoo River, when they seized and scuttled six Japanese merchant ships which had been anchored at the Japanese Nisen Kaisha wharf. Several days before Chinese naval cadets had torpedoed the Japanese flagship Idzumo (right), causing damage hich forced the moving of the cruiser down the Whangpoo to join the battle fleet anchored off the Japanese concession. The seizing of Japanese merchant ships was accomplished when picked companies of Chinese rushed the ships, sailed them into the emergency boom and scuttled them just above Pootung, making the upper reaches of the Whangpoo impenetrable. At the left, above, is Shanghai's famous bund on the Whangpoo River which has been under fire from Japanese warships and artillery.
