

Church Bazaar Held on Islands

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, June 3.—The parcel post bazaar held recently at Queen Charlotte City under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church proved a great success. Gifts of every description were received from near and far. Enthusiastic buyers attended the sale with the result that $67 was added to the church funds.

HE ATE ALL-BRAN AND IMPROVED WONDERFULLY

Read this voluntary letter: "In regard to your ALL-BRAN, it is marked on the package 'best as a cereal, best for cooking,' and, as far as I am concerned, you might add 'best for health.' Since I have begun to eat it, I have improved wonderfully."—Mr. H. E. Poole (address on request).

ALL-BRAN corrects common constipation, due to meals low in "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs water, and forms a soft mass, gently sponging out the system.

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. In chronic cases, with each meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

Have YOU a PIANO?

A piano, to be kept in good condition so that it will please the musician and do justice to the student, requires the attention of a piano tuner at least twice a year. For good tuning call—talk because silence is the secret of success.

Nothing Unusual
"I did nothing unusual when I began. My first job that I chose to call a job was in a small bank in Albany. I was a very quiet worker and that served to distinguish me. It was there that I made and invested my first thousand dollars. Then I simply planned my way to Wall Street. It was with this money that I bought the First National Bank."

Concluding the interview, Mr. Baker fairly shouted:
"There, I've broken my record. Tell the others they needn't come in. And get out," he dismissed his interviewer with a smile.

In 1873 Mr. Baker met his first great panic with the failure of the house of J. Cooke & Company. He stood by and declared as a principle that which he has always followed, and that served to distinguish me, that any panic could be averted if the banks instead of becoming afraid and hoarding their resources would pay them out. The First National weathered that panic and it is worthy of note that it did not sell its borrowers, but assisted them by private compromise.

In First Panic

Mr. Baker became president of the First National in 1877 and remained in that position until 1909, when he resigned and was made chairman of the board.

At the height of his career Mr. Baker held directorates in 43 banks and other corporations, including the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which he was said to be the largest individual stockholder; the United States Steel Corporation, the Pullman company and numerous railroads. It was said that he held the record of attending more directors' meetings than any other financier in New York.

He never seriously relaxed from work and showed little interest in amusements until he took up golf at the age of 70. However, he found time to take an active part in the affairs of many charitable and philanthropic institutions and to those he was a liberal contributor.

Five Million Gift

Mr. Baker's largest single gift, made in 1924, was $5,000,000 to the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. In May 1922, he gave $1,000,000 in Victory Bonds to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the only condition imposed being that the principal was to be held intact and the interest used for the museum. A week later he gave $500,000 in Victory Bonds to the Society of the New York Hospital, which with $250,000 given in 1912, was used for the establishment of the George F. Baker endowment fund. On June 21, 1922, he contributed $250,000 to the endowment of the American Museum of Natural History.

Other large gifts included $2,000,000 to the American Red Cross in 1917 and 1918; $1,850,000 to Cornell University; $700,000 to Columbia University for the purchase of a tract of land for an athletic field, known as Baker Field, and $100,000 to Dartmouth College to establish an endowment in memory of his uncle, Fisher Ames Baker, a graduate in the class of 1859.

It was said that the American fortunes which exceeded that of Mr. Baker were those of John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford.

George F. Baker was born March 27, 1840 at Troy, N.Y., the son of George E. and Florence Tucker Baker. When he was eight years old his family moved to Brooklyn; his father engaging in the shoe business in New York. Later the family moved to Williamsburg, where the son went to school. He finished his education at Seward University, a boarding school at Florida, N.Y.

Worked in Grocery

He went to work in a grocery store, then in a small bank and in 1858 was appointed a clerk in the state banking department.

As a young man Mr. Baker took an interest in aquatic sports and won the sculling championship of the Upper Hudson.

In 1861, just as the Civil War was commencing, Mr. Baker, who two years before had been in a railway accident and suffered serious injuries, became secretary at first, then assistant military secretary to Governor Edward B. Morgan of New York.

While still a young man Mr. Baker married Miss Florence Tucker Baker, who died several years ago. One son, George F. Baker Jr., was born of the marriage.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

With Capt. Neil McLean in command for the season and Norman McLean aboard as purser in addition to other changes among her personal officers, C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert arrived in port at 11:45 yesterday morning from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls with a good-sized list of passengers and sailed at 6:15 p.m. for Anyox and Stewart. The vessel will return here this evening southbound.

C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Capt. James Watt, arrived in port at 8:15 last evening from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands with passengers, mail and freight and will sail at 10:30 p.m. Friday night on her return south over the same route.

Three halibut vessels sold catches totalling 83,000 pounds at Seattle yesterday as follows: Akutan, 39,000 pounds, Whiz, 8½c and 7½c; Mitkof, 39,000, Booth, 9½c and 7½c; Thelma J., 5,000, Washington, 9½c and 7½c.

On Tuesday the American halibut schooner Electra sold 31,000 pounds at Ketchikan for 7½c and 5½c.

The Seattle halibut schooner Western has been towed into Kodiak by the Aleutian, another schooner, having lost her rudder while coming in from sea 120 miles off Kodiak. The Aleutian picked the Western up about sixty miles out and took her the rest of the way into Kodiak. The Western, which has a catch of 36,000 pounds on board, will probably be towed on to Ketchikan by the Aleutian.

Arriving here tomorrow afternoon from the south, C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide will proceed on a special voyage to Ketchikan to pick up a number of Alaskan school teachers bound south for the summer and will be back here Saturday morning on the return voyage.

FINE PLAY PRESENTED

"Lloyds of London" is Feature Offering at Capitol Theatre This Week-end

Against a turbulent canvas of adventure and intrigue incidental to the inner workings of one of the most extraordinary business organizations of the world, "Lloyds of London," coming to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for three days commencing tonight, presents one of the greatest love stories of all time when fierce courage and vengeful fury fought to the death for a love that flamed while the fate of an Empire hung in the balance.

The story opens with Freddie Bartholomew, as young Jonathan Blake and Douglas Scott as Horatio Nelson discover a plot to scuttle a ship and collect the insurance from Lloyds. They determine to tell Mr. Lloyd of the plot. Years pass and Jonathan becomes a great figure in the insurance world while Nelson rises as Britain's great naval hero. How their paths cross in later life with Madeline Carroll and Tyrone Power playing the romantic leads makes a stirring drama.
