UP-RIVER MINES ALL LOOK GOOD

Angus Stewart Has One of the Very Best, Says Edgar Harris. Slocan Capitalists Bond the Surprise Property.

"There are lots of good mining properties up the river," says Edgar Harris, "but one of the very best in the whole district is that owned by Tony McHugh and Angus Stewart, contractors for Foley, Welch & Stewart. He says the ore is rich on the surface and the development work that has been done makes the property richer. The shaft sunk on the main vein has led into an eighteen-inch vein of gray copper ore that shows a value of $700 a ton.

"The winter camp has been completed and the shaft, now 85 feet deep, is to be sunk to 200 feet without stopping.

"The Surprise property, adjoining the Silver Standard, comprising three claims, has been bonded by Couer de 'Alene and Slocan capitalists, and the first payment made on the bond.

"Work is also progressing on the Iron Mask property owned by Dwyer & Stephens, who have recently let a contract for a 100-foot tunnel to be driven this winter."

'MANSON WAY' GOES ON AHEAD

Noble Lumber Bridge Work for Access to Provincial Wharf in Progress—It is a Roundabout Way.

Extensive trestle and bridge work is in active progress at the wharf for the general public Provincial Government's new wharf to complete the access to the wharf for the general public when the wharf is opened for steamboat traffic. Access to the wharf will be by means of "The Manson Way," a route which seems most appropriately roundabout and indirect. The way itself is a high wooden girder bridge spanning the G. T. P. track. Above the wharf it takes a right angle turn and then by a long gradual slope of trestle work now under construction the passenger reaches the level of the wharf at the opposite end from that approached by the Manson Way connects with the city at First Avenue through the Westholme Lumber Co.'s domains.
