MUSEUM BENEFACTOR

CHESSINGTON, England, Dec. 12 (CP)—Arthur Anderson, 68, one of Britain's shyest and most generous art benefactors, is dead. He spent most of his life and much of his fortune in enriching the country's art museums.

JUST ANOTHER GOAT

KARACHI, Indian, Dec. 12 (CP)—Live-stock merchants in Sind have discovered a new type of goat known as the Kamori. It is twice the size of the ordinary animal and yields between eight to 12 pounds of milk daily.

FINE SHOW AT TERRACE

Operetta Feature of Music Club Entertainment This Week

TERRACE, December 12— The Music Club of Knox United Church and the boys' and girls' clubs of the Sunday School delighted a large audience in the Oddfellows Hall on Tuesday evening when they gave a beautiful interpretation of "The Snow Queen," an operetta based on a fairy tale by Hans Anderson. A charming tone was given to the scenes by flood lights of varying colors. This was especially effective in the snow-storm during the first act, also the woodland scene of the robber band in the second act and in the ice palace scene where the queen was seated on a great white throne surrounded by her snowflakes with a brilliant display of the "Aurora Boreals" as a background. The operetta was directed by Mrs. Adam Crisp.

The cast of characters was as follows:

The Snow Queen, Miss Lorraine Kenney.

Gerda, Miss Enid Waite.

Kay, Mrs. J. A Stout.

Gerda's Grandmother, Mrs. Frank Gayin.

Kay's Mother, Mrs. Vernon Glass.

The Angel, Miss Jenny King.

The Witch, Miss Maxine Llewelyn.

The Rag Man, Miss Evelyn Warren.

The Robber Girl, Miss Ina Smith.

Robber Captain, Master Billy Bland.

Sergeant, Master Peter North.

Village Girls and Flowers—Mrs Leo Llewellyn, Mrs. Rose Farkvam, and the Misses Norma Kenney, Mamie Haugland, Marie Hall Francis Hall, Lorna Smith, Edna Bland, Jessie Llewellyn.

Village Boys and Robbers—Masters Donald Llewellyn, Lorne Llewellyn, Jack Kirkaldy, Raymond Taft, Wilfred Haugland, Joe Hogan Harry Haugland.

Snowflakes — Dolly and Irene Haugland, Jean and Onolee Kirkaldy, June Smith, Joyce North, Gwen Verna and Beth Fraser, Josephine Jordan, Adeline Llewellyn, Vera Bland.

The prologue was ably given between each act by Miss Marie Hall in a rose costume.

Splendid assistance was given by Mrs. Omar Levesque in creating the scenic effects, Stanley Olson as electrician and by Mrs. J. Stout as costumer.

Between the acts piano selections were rendered by Miss Mamie Haugland and piano-accordion numbers by Miss Edna Bland.

A special feature of the evening was the playing of E. P. Granger, violinist, during an intermission of twenty minutes. Among the selections rendered was a mosterly performance of Schubert's "Serenade." Mrs. Granger accompanied on the piano.

EARLY SCHOOLING IN MEETING WITH EMPIRE PEOPLE

own train through the longest tunnel in the British Empire on the way to Christchureh.

Rejoining the Renown, the Yorks crossed the Tasman Sea to steam into beautiful Sydney harbor to the drumming of saluting guns and the dipping of ensigns. Their duties carried them up and down the country over the eccentric railways of Australia, which vary in gauge with almost every state and necessitate changes of train often at the dead of night. They fulfilled engagements in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia, and crossed Bass Strait to salute Tasmania.

Throughout the tour the Duke made it plain that he desired to meet all classes and to be equally accessible to all political groups. He met and made friends with a number of labor leaders, notably J. T. Lang, who afterwards became prime minister of New South Wales, and H. E. Holland, New Zealand trade union leader

In Melbourne on "Anzac Day, he couple watched a giant march-past of 25,000 Australian "Diggers" (buddies). In Queensland they attended a corrobboree, the powwow of the Australian aboriginal, and paid a flying visit to the Bendigo Goldfields in Victoria. In South Australia the Duke tried his hand at the exclusively Australian sport of kangaroo-hunting.

Some Adventures

The Canberra ceremonies included unlocking the doors of the new parliament house and unveiling a statue of George V. inthe entrance hall, while Dame Nellie Melba, the great Australian prima donna, sang "God Save The King." With almost perfect delivery, the Duke (now George VI.), in a brief speech, voiced a glowing message to Australians from his father.

On the way to Fremantle, isolated port of Western Australia, the couple had a unique experience when the Renown was caught in a violent hurricane in the Australian Bight, famous for its storms

A few days later, with the nearest land 1000 miles away across the Indian Ocean, the cruiser ran into a second mishap when a fire broke out in the engine-room. The crew was finally able to subdue the blaze.

On the way to Suez and home the Renown made one more call at the little sugar island of Mauritius. This visit was the cause of a classic misprint that appeared in a local newspaper. The paper regretfully told its readers: "The Colonial Secretary announces that His Royal Highness can stand only three days in Mauritius." It meant "stay." Arriving at Plymouth, the Duke expressed amazement at the demonstrations of affection and loyalty that hao greeted them in every Empire centre. He declared: "Throughout the tour we have been conscious of one feeling—we were among our kith and kin."
