From the Waterfront

Three passenger liners were in port on Sunday. The first was the C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, bound from Vancouver to Skagway, which arrived at 9 a.m. and left at 10:30 a.m. in continuation of her northern voyage, being due back here on Thursday afternoon southbound. At 11 a.m. the Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Sea, Capt. A. W. Nickerson, arrived from Ketchikan, sailing at 4 p.m. for Seattle after discharging three carloads of frozen fish here for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways. On her regular voyage, the Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, arrived in port at 5:30 last evening and sailed at 8 p.m. for for Stewart, Anyox and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning southbound.

Such a heavy movement of passengers into the Yukon and Northern British Columbia is developing this spring that the steamer Prince Louise is to be pressed into service on the Skagway run to handle the traffic. She will be coming north in place of the Princess Norah on the next scheduled voyage to Alaska, the Princess Norah returning to the route after that for two more voyages before being repleced for the spring by the Louise. Calling here yesterday morning bound from Vancouver to Skagway, the Princess Norah was filled to capacity. She had 173 aboard on arrival here. One disembarked at this port while eighteen boarded her at Prince Rupert for the north.

The local service boat Jedway, Capt. Johhny Hartlin, arrived at Big Bay mill on Saturday afternoon with a tow of six sections of logs from the C. C. Ketchum camp at Captain's Cove for the box factory.

According to advices from headquarters of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation in Victoria, preparations are being made to open up the company's whaling station at Rose Harbor, Queen Charlotte Islands, earlier than usual this year.

Standard Oil Co.'s tanker B. C. Standard, Capt. Barney Johnson jr., arrived in port yesterday from Vancouver with fuel for the company's local station. E. A. Bence, head of the company's sales department, arrived on the Catala last evening from Vancouver on company business.

A large fuel tank which was landed at the Canadian National wharf from a freighter at the end of last week was moved by truck this morning to the Home Oil Distributors' station on the waterfront. It was quite an imposing looking object as it was moved through the streets.

Miss Kathleen Duncan Becomes Bride of Roderick Smith on Saturday Evening

A pretty and interesting wedding took place quietly at 7:30 Saturday night at the deanery, Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dean of St. Andrew's Cathedral, officiating, when Miss Kathleen Ross Duncan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Duncan and member of well known pioneer family, became the bride of Roderick Smith, also of this city. Only the contracting couple, their attendants and the bride's parents were in attendance.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely white georgette silk wedding dress with veil and orange blossoms, carrying a shower bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Agnes May Guyan who wore pale blue silk net with large hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groomsman was John George Gunn.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Ambrose Avenue where a wedding supper was served to about fifty invited guests. The bride cut a beautiful three-tier wedding cake.

The happy couple received the congratulations and best wishes of their friends under a white wedding bell, the house having been specially decorated for the occasion.

A toast to the bride was proposed by John Bremner while Norman McKay proposed a toast to the bridesmaid. The bride's father also spoke.

The evening was happily spent in games and dancing.

Many beautiful gifts testified to the popularity and esteem in which the couple are held. There were several showers for the bride prior to her marriage.

Ms. Smith was born in Prince Rupert and has lived here all her life. The groom hails from Stornoway, Scotland, and is a member of the crew of the lighthouse tender Birnie.
