WELL RECEIVED

DAILY EDITION

The announcement of the appointment of W. J. Asselstine, member for Atlin, to have charge of the portfolios of mining and trade and industry in the provincial government is being well received throughout the province. It is pointed out that this is the the first time a practical mining man has occupied the position of minister of mines and the new position recently created should also make a good start under such a vigorous and capable min- by juniors.

RADIO RECEPTION

There is almost general protest being made around the city at the terrible radio reception during the past weeks. It was particularly marked during the cold snap ars. when in most cases nothing could be heard but the noise made by various electric gadgets around the city. One person remarked that for four days running he heard nothing but the local station, even late at night the local noises continuing with unabated vigor. The condition from the point of view of the radio fan was unbearable.

We have a great deal of sympathy with the protesters. Those who pay a license for the right to listen to radio broadcasts should get at least a measure of protection against those who use noisy gadgets, especially during the holiday season.

PRINCE RUPERT BENEFITS

Many Prince Rupert people have invested in mining companies and at this time of year many of them are receiving dividends. Of the total of one hundred million dollars paid out to investors this city and district gets its per capita share, the result of investment of their savings.

EXCELLENT RESULTS

Last week the Salvation Army published in this paper a card of thanks to all who so willingly helped in the work during the Christmas season. May we add our appreciation of the good spirit with which the Christmas appeals are always received. Since the Daily News undertook the collections years ago the response has always been excellent.

A loud knocking was heard at the outer door and in came Santa Claus. Clapping and cheering accompanied Santa to the well-laden Christmas tree. After distribution of gifts to the school children, all other village children were presented with gifts, nuts, oranges and candies going all around the hall. The concert over, the children went home excited and happy that Santa had been such a kind friend to them all. The seniors remained; behind for games.

Carol Singing On Christmas Eve the St. Paul's Anglican choir started from the church and sang hymns and carols around the village under the leadership of Solomon Bryant and Edward Tait. A special service was held in St. Paul's Church. A letter and message of goodwill, received from the Right Rev. Bishop G. A. Rix D.D., was read to the congregation by Rev. B. Shearman. Special carols were sung, also the anthems "Glory to God in the Highest," and "Behold I Bring You Good Tidings." Edward Tait was the capable organist and Solomon Bryant again showed excellent conductorship.
