A MOMENT'S carelessness with a single match or cigarette butt... thoughtlessness in leaving a smoldering camp fire... can start a conflagration that will sweep an entire watershed and ruin fishing streams for years to come.

From The Waterfront

Aboard the fisheries patrol cruiser Clupea, the members of the board of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada paid a visit to the Skeena River yesterday to witness salmon canning operations and spent three hours at the Canadian Fishing Co.'s plant at Carlisle. The party returned to port at 7 o'clock last evening. Today the board started its business sessions at the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station and the members attended the regular weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club where the speaker was Dr. A. T. Cameron, chairman of the research board. Tonight there will be a dinner in a downtown restaurant.

Coast shipping in port this morning from Vancouver included the freighters Southholm, Capt. R. B. Bennett, and Salver, Capt. Albert Georgeson, and the Imperial Oil tanker Beeceelite, Capt. J. A. Rankin, all discharging local cargo.

The big salmon packer Kanawaka, Capt. H. Casperson, was in port this morning from the trollying grounds with 75,000 pounds of fish for delivery to the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.

Canadian National Steamships report the steamer Prince Rupert already heavily booked for the special excursion to be run to Ketchikan over the Labor Day weekend, leaving here on the Saturday night and returning noon Monday. It is already assured of being a full ship and accommodation is already at a premium.

The Ketchikan packer Fairbanks arrived in port at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from Ketchikan and, after discharging one carload of fresh halibut and salmon for transshipment east over Canadian National Railways, sailed on her return north.

There were 209 passengers aboard the steamer Prince Louise which was in port yesterday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver. Two disembarked here and two went on board at this port.

Millions of dollars were involved in fisheries plants, fishing gear, materials used and men employed. "Should the fish be exterminated, think of the desolation that would be seen all along this coast with no canneries, no cold storage plants, no salteries and no fishing boats," he remarked. It was well to see to it that the industry was properly preserved.

Guests at the luncheon were Arthur Weeks of Vancouver, Capt. McLeod of the Indian Army and Dr. Neal Carter, Dr. L. I. Pugsley, B. E. Bailey and A. R. Nichols of Prince Rupert.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Was Principal Business at Canadian Legion Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League last evening in the Legion clubrooms with President Jack Preece in the chair the main report of the recent provincial convention of the British Columbia Command in Vancouver was given by J. S. Wilson who was a delegate from the branch and also zone representative and a member of the provincial executive.

The report indicated that the delegates had had a very busy time and that the convention had been the largest yet held in British Columbia. The 126 branches of the Legion had been well represented. At the social gatherings representatives of the fifty-one branches of Women's Auxiliaries had been present and, with fraternal delegates, there was a total of over seven hundred at some of the general sessions. The opening ceremony had been unusually impressive. In addition to the Grand President of the Canadian Legion, Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake, there were present Dominion President, Col. W. W. Foster, the provincial president, Colonel W. S. Buell, official representative of the Lieutenant-Governor; G. C. Miller, the Mayor of Vancouver; Brigadier-General Harold McDonald, chairman of the Canadian Pension Commission, Mrs. D. J. McDonald, President of the Women's B. C. Command, Canadian Legion; Ian McKenzie, Minister of National Defence, and other distinguished speakers.

Work of the various committee and the general business session showed what a variety of problems had been faced. A peculiar situation had occurred on a committee of which the speaker had sat when resolutions dealing with Japanese exclusion and curtailment of Japanese immigration had to be considered. One of the members was a Japanese who had served with the Canadian forces.

Tells of Public Problems
Mr. Wilson told in some detail of the problems facing the Legion as a legion and also the greater problem of the future of Canada. The members of the Legion had fought in the past for Canada and they were vitally interested in the present welfare of its citizens both young and old. Their interest was not confined to ex-service men and their dependants only.

Other representatives from the Prince Rupert zone had been H. V. Litter of Stewart, Rev. Evan Baker, who represented the Anyox branch, and Jack Preece, representing Prince Rupert.

William Wilson, G. J. Dawes and W. H. McCallum, patients in the Shaughnessy Military Hospital, had been visited by both delegates from the branch. All three were making satisfactory progress and expected to be discharged shortly.

Mr. Wilson reported on the result of interviews he had had with the Premier, the Commissioner of Police and other officials of the government and the Canadian Legion.

President Jack Preece reported on certain matters he had taken up on behalf of the branch. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Wilson for his interesting and very comprehensive report.

Applications for regular membership from H. K. Douglas, L. S. Hope and for transfer of J. E. Matheson were approved.

A letter from the Junior Chamber of Commerce in connection with Port Day was read and the members will give their support to the celebration.

Ecstall Mine Is Permanent

This is Impression Left on Local Business Man After Visit to Property

The Northern Pyrites mine on the Ecstall River is preparing along substantial lines for permanent operation, it seemed apparent to Bert Morgan of this city who paid a visit to the property during the past week while on a visit to the Frizzell Hot Springs on the Skeena River. Permanence is evident in all the construction such as mine timbering, power house, tramway and buildings, says Mr. Morgan.

and four days in Switzerland.

The visit to the Alps in Switzerland was the highlight of the trip, said Dr. Carter who is an enthusiastic mountaineer. Matterhorn and Jungfrau were among the points of interest visited. After a day in Paris, Dr. and Mrs. Carter returned to London where they were rejoined by Dr. and Mrs. Large and made a four-day motor tour of the south of England including Stratford-on-Avon, where they took in a Shakespearian play, and Cornwall. After sight-seeing in London, they embarked on the Queen Mary for the recrossing of the Atlantic which was made in record-breaking time.

In New York the Carters and the Larges parted company, the latter going to Toronto for a visit. Dr. and Mrs. Carter proceeded to Oshawa where they took possession of a new car in which they drove record, losing no time in doing so. The drive of just about three thousand miles was accomplished in five and a half days not counting a stop of half a day at Kere-meos. They drove as much as 670 miles and sixteen hours in one day.

Glasgow Exposition

Dr. Carter, while admitting it was a great show, seemed to be somewhat disappointed with the Glasgow Exposition. At least, it was not what he had expected. As for the Canadian section, while the Dominion had a splendid building, it consisted largely of an exhibit of finished products along the lines of a commercial display. It failed, Dr. Carter thought, to bring out the natural attractions of the Dominion as had been so effectively done by some of the other Dominions.
