Fire Hall Gardens Are Latest HE SHUNNED Addition To Civic Centre Plan For Beautification Of Community Frederick William Was Less Prominent Member of Vanderbilt

Park and Garden Area Now Extends From Salvation Army Citadel to Fourth Avenue Lookout With Eleven Totems

One of the most important improvements in the city Frederick William Vanderbilt, who of recent years is the laying out of the three civic gardens, high positions in the Vanderbilt one at the City Hall and police station, a second in the To-isystem which they reached nor did tem Park on Fraser Street and the third and, possibly the he attract as much public attenmost important of all, the new fire department gardens tion connecting the other two and making practically one continuous garden or park from the Salvation Army citadel to the lookout point at the end of Fourth Av-The civic garden development commenced some years ago when a garden was established in front of and around the police station. Prisoners were allowed the privilege of helping improve this and gradually it assumed shape as a definite garden project. Under the present police head the work has made great strides, Staff Sergeant Greenwood taking great personal interest in it and giving it every encouragement. City Commissioner Alder undertook the setting up of the totem poles in the park on Fraser Street. These poles were donated by prominent natives on Queen Charlotte weather continues. The hay crop Islands and the city paid the Indians for removing them and loading them on the steamer. The Canadian National Steamship Comcome pany provided free transportation down from the eighties to the and the poles were painted and set up under direction of the city en> gineer and William Beynon, great care being taken that the original; colors be adhered to in the decorative scheme. This year an artistic pond and fountain has been added and the whole park is kept nicely

There are now eleven totems in this garden area and they have been characterized by authorities as the finest collection gathered in one place on the American contin-1 ent. They are the great attraction to the tourists who come to the city, ranking ahead even of the flowers in drawing power. They are visited by most of the people who come to the city on pleasure bent and many thousands of photographs of them are taken and carried away each year. The Fire Hall gardens, initiated this year under Fire Chief H. T. Lock, come as a fitting climax to an excellent movement. The gardens have been artistically laid out with rockeries and planted with flowers which should give good results this season. Even the slope! leading off toward Fraser Street has been partly terraced and is great improvement. When completed this will be a splendid addition to the gardens of the city and already an excellent showing has been made.

It is pointed out that, while the! police staff have help from the prisoners in their work, the firemen do the work themselves. Great credit is due them for the fine work they have done. They have definitely lined themselves up with the civic improvement movement which seems to be spreading each year.
