THE REVOLUTION IN CHINA.

Revolutions seldom go backward, and the present one in China seems to be the result of intelligence that has found its way through peaceful measures to every section of that vast empire.

As seeds are blown by the wind to distant lands, liberal ideas have taken root and are now developing into strength and power. Like the great changes in nature we see the elements move and witness the result, but we know little concerning the controlling, governing power.

Within the last few decades great advancement has been made in human affairs. All the South American countries followed the example of the great republic. France, under a democracy, has made greater progress during the last forty years than she ever made in any century under a despotism. The people of the empire of Russia, under the reign of Alexander II, the great liberator, and following the leadership of Tolstoi, have moved rapidly toward a constitutional government.

Turkey has sent her despotic Sultan into exile and now rejoices in a constitutional government. Persia has deposed her sovereign and now has turned her attention toward self-government. Mexico has concluded the reign of its arbitrary President, and Portugal has established a republic.

Now the Celestial Empire is in the throes of political convulsion, undergoing a great change which is the most important revolution of the age. That mighty empire has produced some of the most eminent philosophers, statesmen, scientists and soldiers, and now may be the first to establish a democratic government in the Orient.

The great uprising organized and controlled by Genghis Khan and Tamerlane swept over a part of China, Persia, India and a portion of Europe, spreading terror and desolation along their line of march. The present awakening of China is of a far different character, prompted by different impulses and with far higher motives.

This political revolution is not the creation of a single brain or directed by a single leader. It is the intelligent conviction of the Chinese people at home, supported by those scattered in the remote quarters of the globe.

SHRIMPER JIM MET ILL LUCK

His Fine Record of Sure-Footed Seamanish Since Boyhood Shattered Yesterday Afternoon. Jim Is Sad.

After making the proud boast that he had been at sea from his boyhood without once falling overboard, "Jim the Shrimper," admiral of the good ship Amy, came to grief yesterday and got a ducking off the bulwarks of his own craft. He was boarding the Amy just before lunch time when his foot slipped and he went over his head. The water was like ice, "Jim" floundered there so crest-fallen that he had half a mind to sink for the third time when his engineer nobly did the hero act for him.

"Gee!" said Jim, "I should have been called Peter. Tried to walk on the waves and fell through nearly to the bottom. After being at sea since I was a boy without once falling overboard. Now what do you know about that!"

THREE DAY CURE FOR DRINK HABIT

Appeals to the Business and Professional Man, the Banker, and Man in all the Higher Walks of Life
BECAUSE OF THE TIME IT SAVES THEM
When a man's time is worth a great deal more to him than the cost of a drink habit cure he is not going to drag along for twenty-eight to forty-two days taking a treatment when he can get a cure in three days, without hypodermic injections, and be surrounded with every comfort of home.

A PERFECT CURE.
The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and a new man.
The treatment consists of the internal administration of a harmless remedy, tonic in its action, that removes the craving for liquor in a very few hours.
DRUG HABIT CURED.
At the Vancouver institute we also treat drug addictions with uniform success. Call, write or phone for booklet, giving full information.
