BIG FISHING BOATS

A little co-operation, it is suggested, might solve a canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve problem worrying the halibut fishermen of this port. Men headquarters, thanks were exwho now own small fishing boats might club together and pressed by J. S. Wilson, on behalf Final Display build a big one, each owning a share and also sharing in of the club, to all those who had the operation. Then they could fish all fall in the remote success, to the umpires at No. 3 winter banks as well as in the summer in Area No. 2.

There may possibly be objections to this co-operative assisted by D. G. Borland and Wil scheme but difficulties can usually be overcome. Evi-liam Elkins, at No. 4 buoy, Dr. L dently what Prince Rupert needs is more large fishing by Alex. McRae and Walter Hume boats and fewer small ones.

HIGHWAY DIFFICULTIES

The chief reason against the proposed highway from Captain H. E. Nedden of the C.N Prince Rupert to Terrace is the difficulty of construction | S. Prince Robert as judge, to Chie over the mountains. After reading how the Chinese have Petty Officer Bird and to Mrs built highways ten thousand feet above sea level across pressed of the assistance of the precipitous mountain ranges, the Prince Rupert problem press in giving such useful pubof going up nearly five thousand feet sinks into insigni-licity and support to the mode ficance. The highway could go along the pass leading in yacht owners and the race. the general direction of Kitsumkalum Lake or by the north bank of the river without any ferry to cross and Ernest M. Garbe who with his wife block traffic. As traffic increased it could be kept open and family was a passenger on all year round without any very great difficulty.

ALL WISH THEM SUCCESS

All Prince Rupert people will wish General Hornby construction. He was also very enand Sir Henry Page Croft success in their endeavors to thusiastic in his comments on the settle northern British Columbia lands with a good class wonderful conditions prevailing loof agricultural settlers. Every possible objection to the cally with such a fine stretch of scheme has been met and if properly carried out the plan roundings. To his fellow members seems bound to succeed. It would mean a great deal to in New York he would take back Prince Rupert if the interior country were more thickly greetings from the local club. settled.

well afford to send a million British people to help fill up the vacant lands in this country.

Former Lord Mayor

Lord Mayor of Newcastle, expressed pleasure at meeting S. J. Hungerford, president of Canadian National Railways, and other members of his party. At Prince George among others he had met Judge H. A. Robertson who was with them at the dinner. He told of the difficulties they had experienced in making a port at Newcastle. Here he said was a port ready made on a harbor big enough to accommodate the whole British Fleet. He, urged them to forget about Vancouver but to go after what they wanted. He had opened the port of Churchill by sending two ships there to load and he had also taken great thing was to get the lands populated, then they would find it much easier to obtain what was. wanted. The railways had been built ahead of population. "You must ginger up and send representatives to urge your views upon the government. We have had to ginger they needed gingering. There are plenty of people ready to come to Canada. We have all learned from our mistakes in the past and must send you people who will make good itizens. Canadians are a grand people and, if they fill up the land vith the right people, they will become greater."

S. J. Hungerford, president of the Canadian National Railways, spoke f the special privilege that had been accorded them of attending that dinner and meeting the promnent visitors. The Canadian Naional Railways was much concerned with the problem which they vere considering. The building of his railway was an effort to deelop rapidly. No one could say what would have happened if the leason in Conection With Gyro war had not come. Possibly it would not then have been such a reat mistake. The railway had a special interest in this territory. As t was they were losing money every heir losses might be reduced. They Dance rehearsals in the gymnas- had confidence that in time this
