BURNS AND ALLEN HEAD LAUGH CAST

Gracie Allen, George Burns and Martha Raye, who panicked audiences in "College Holiday," head the all-star cast of the new Paramount musical comedy, "College Swing." In this story of a collegiate nitwit who takes over a leading American university and runs it to suit herself, the three gay clowns are assisted in their antics by Bob Hope, who climbed into the top drawer of stardom by virtue of his single performance as the master of ceremonies in the recent "Big Broadcast of 1938."

The story of "College Swing" is the high-gear fantasy which has always provided Burns and Allen with their most successful material. It opens in Puritan times with a wealthy old New Englander making a will bequeathing the college he has founded to the first female member of his family who passes an examination in it. The camera then slides on down two centuries and shows Gracie, his descendant, getting herself in shape for the big test.

With the aid of a resourceful young student, Bob Hope, Gracie discovers a short-cut to knowledge which would make Einstein look like a piker. She passes the examinations with flying colors and takes control of the university immediately. Under Gracie's regime, an educational revolution takes place. "Liberal education" is made "liberal" in every sense of the word, with Gracie as "Dean of Men," Martha Raye as a member of the faculty and Hope as "Professor of Applied Romance." He "applies" it to, of all people, Martha, thus forming the screen's newest love team.

Edward Everett Horton fresh from his role as Claudette Colbert's conniving father on "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," plays an important part as the woman-hating multi-millionaire who learns about romance from Gracie, and, what is even stranger, likes it! George Burns appears as his secretary, who is unable to prevent his master from becoming entangled in the wiles of America's most novel "educator."

HORSES FOR TERRACE

SMITHERS, Sept. 19:—Carl G. Muller and son of Terrace arrived in Smithers a few days ago to look for a team of horses for work on the logging contract which Mr. Muller has at Terrace. They located a fine team of grays and will leave on today's train for Terrace with them.

THREE DROWN

CAPREEL, Ont., Sept. 19:—Two men and a boy were drowned when their boat capsized. They were William Mayers, Phillip Kelley and Mac Dennie.

The Fine Flavor It Gives Coffee

"I like Pacific Milk because of the fine flavor it gives to a cup of coffee."

This is taken out of a letter from Mrs. J. B., who says she uses this good milk for all cooking and baking purposes and finds it very nice for frozen desserts.

We have hundreds of letters from users who praise Pacific Milk, give reasons why they like it and say it is their constant choice.

IS MISSING AT TERRACE

Search Continuing For Tom Lever, Feared Lost in Kitsumkalum River

TERRACE, Sept. 19:—Under the direction of Provincial Constable H. L. McKenney, search is being continued for Tom Lever, aged 37, who has been missing since early Thursday morning when, partially clad, he left the home of Carl Pohle with whom he had been staying. It is feared he may have been lost in the Kitsumkalum River, towards which he was traced by footprints, by the searchers.

Lever lived here since early boyhood, having been a son of the late Mrs. F. B. Bohler. He ranches near Kitsumkalum. Last winter he underwent a serious operation at Prince Rupert and had been in ill-health since then. He has three brothers—James and Cecil Lever and William Bohler.

Mordens Of Quick To Live In South

SMITHERS, Sept. 19:—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morden of Smithers left here this morning by automobile for the south and expect to take up residence somewhere on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Morden has been a farmer in the Quick district ever since the war but was obliged to give up his work two years ago on account of illness which is attributed to his war services.

He was in Smithers Hospital for several months and then took up residence in Smithers where he has remained for the past year.

His friends hope that the southern atmosphere will be more congenial to him and that he will make complete recovery in health.

Mrs. Arthur White is accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Morden on the trip and she will spend a few weeks visiting in the south and then return to Smithers.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Steamer Princess Louise was in port Saturday afternoon for a couple of hours. Those leaving the ship at this port were Leonard Mumford, Shane Murray, John Dohl, George Kerzinger, Louis Clark, Clarence Haude and Edward Wilson. These all joined the ship at Skagway. The Louise had 165 passengers in all.

The steamship Princess Louise on her next southbound voyage expects to bring out a large number of transportation officials from the Yukon and Alaska.

For the past few days two old-timers of Oona River have been receiving congratulations from friends on their recent marriage. They are Emil Quist and Mrs. M. Norberg who have lived at Oona River for many years but now have decided to commence life together in new surroundings. They are living on Sixth Avenue in this city. Mr. Quist is a fisherman.

The Northland, Captain Len Williams, was in port yesterday from Ketchikan with a shipment of fish for this port. The boat took out a shipment of herring bait.

"Sky Giant," showing here today is an exciting picture of the air showing the training of pilots. Richard Dix has the leading role as a happy-go-lucky transport pilot.

Joan Fontaine creates much of the trouble when both Dix and Morris fall in love with her. The rivalry between them carries on into the air when the two men, along with Miss Fontaine's pilot-cousin are assigned to fly a big transport across the Arctic to Russia in surveying a proposed new air route.

The crippling of the big plane in a lonely area of Alaska leads into the dramatic climax, when two of the survivors try to bring the third one, dying, to the coast and safety. How this valiant effort succeeds and its results on the romantic complications of the story, make for a powerful ending.

Olof Hanson, M. P., arrived in the city Saturday night from the interior.

RAVED OVER SCENERY OF HAZELTON

Artist from Paris and Wife Spent Five Weeks in District Enjoying Themselves

"This is a wonderful country and many thousands more tourists should come to see it every year," stated K. Selgman, who with Mrs. Selgman, have been visiting Prince Rupert and Hazelton but particularly Hazelton.

Mr. Selgman said when leaving Saturday evening for Vancouver enroute home to Paris, that he and Mrs. Selgman had had a most enjoyable holiday. They had been warned against going to Hazelton as they were told everything there was very crude, hotel accommodation poor, and they would find it difficult to eat the food that was put before them. They were so agreeably surprised that instead of staying a week they had spent five weeks. They found the hotel accommodation excellent and Mrs. Newick's boarding house was so excellent they were most reluctant about leaving. The scenery was gorgeous and the people particularly hospitable. He wished to mention particularly Captain Mortimer the Indian Agent, R. S. Sargent and the Newicks.

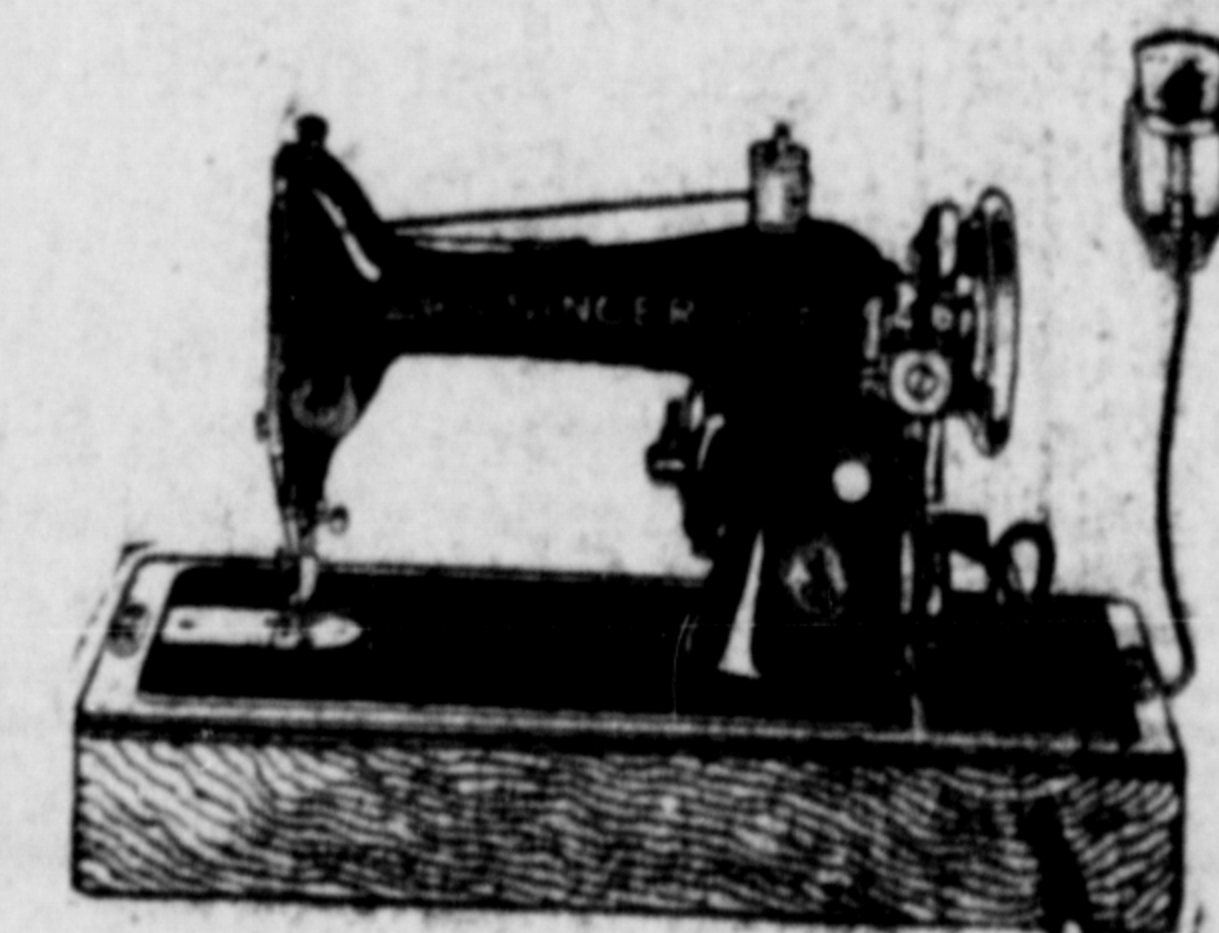

While at Hazelton Mr. Selgman purchased a tall totem pole from the natives at Hagweltaet and he expects to donate it to a new museum which is being established in Paris. Through the courtesy of Captain Mortimer and others and the consideration of the Federal government he had been able to arrange for shipping this pole out of the country. It was useless where it was and now it would be a continuous advertisement of British Columbia.
