NO MONOPLY ON CHRISTIANITY

No one has a monopoly on Christianity. In the early days attempts were made to prevent bootlegging but it and Representative J. K. Green failed. It is in most countries as free as air and water. ah yesterday afternoon going Further Clues in "Furnace Killing" And it may be suggested here that there are almost as through from seattle to attend the many types of Christianity as there are people in Christ- session of the Alaska Legislature ian countries.

Some people think that Christianity means attending aska Highway and discussed it at . 2 certain kind of church service, putting on their best some length with Olof Hanson, M. clothes and listening to a sermon and singing hymns. It is, P. while in the city. not that at all. Neither is it taking up a collection. All these things are, doubtless, very desirable but they do not necessarily mean that the person taking part is a Christ- MORE MAIL

Every person in this country has a right to interpret! Christianity as he or she thinks fit. It is easy to remember that Peter was a fisherman mending his net and that he Twenty Thousand More Letters left his boat and net and rambled around the country with the founder of the Christian religion, learning the best way of life. Today we cannot do that but we can study for ourselves and get much of what the fishermen and others of that day obtained at first hand. We have records ed at the local Post Office over the centred off the Queen Charlotte Isof their impressions to guide us.
