SITDOWN CONTINUED

Single Workless Occupy Vancouver Lobbies Over Week-End—No Violence

VANCOUVER, May 23: (CP)—Single, jobless men of Vancouver, continuing their sitdown strike in demand for an "adequate works program," were still occupying the lobbies of the main Post Office and civic art gallery Saturday evening but had withdrawn from the Hotel Georgia.

In view of the situation, leaves of Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers had been cancelled and the city police was contemplating taking similar action.

Meantime the men continued quiet and orderly, co-operating in permitting business to proceed in the occupied buildings.

The three hundred men filed quietly out of the Hotel Georgia after the Vancouver city council had agreed to give $500 to provide them with food and lodging over the week-end. They had occupied the building for twenty-seven hours.

There is hope that the federal government may soon take some action to relieve these single unemployed men who have been cut off relief.

Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of labor, reiterated that the province had no intention of providing relief for men who had just recently arrived in the province.

Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of labor, from Ottawa stated that no action would be taken there which would conflict with provincial policy.

ONE ALIVE; OTHER DEAD

Mystery Surrounding Missing Man And Woman Cleared Up Over Week-end

The week-end brought solution of mystery attaching itself to the disappearance of two Prince Rupert people—a man and a woman. One is dead; the other, alive.

Charles Darwin Frech, 72-year old prospector, who had been missing from his cabin between Kalen and Billmor, about seven miles along the railway track from the city, for four days, was found dead on a nearby island. Having been ill, he evidently collapsed in the woods while on his way to town Tuesday morning and death is believed to have been from natural causes. Following report of the finding of the body by Tony Hinilica of Billmor who was out looking for his goat, the police boat P. M. 8 went out Sunday morning and brought the remains into the city, turning them over to the B. C. Undertakers. The body was found about 50 yards from deceased's cabin beside a trail.

Born in Dixon, Illinois, March 4, 1866, and a naturalized Canadian, Mr. Frech had been in this province for over forty years. He was a life-long prospector and had been in practically every mining area in the province including the Siocan and Portland Canal. He had been here for twenty-seven years. He was unmarried and there is no information as to relatives.

Mrs. Ida Hansen, missing from her home in Prince Rupert since a week ago Saturday night, was located Sunday afternoon in a bathing shelter beside a lagoon alongside the railway track at the west end of the city. She told a somewhat incoherent story of having trudged to Port Edward, about ten miles from the city. During the week she had had only four slices of bread, she said, on the strength of information received, police officers went out to the lagoon and brought her in to town. She was returned to her home and given medical attention.
