UTILIZE MIND POWER

Editor, Daily News: Many thanks for your editorials Thursday and Monday last regarding health consciousness versus disease conscionsness. We need the warning for the danger is real. Most of us admit the desirability of health campaigns if only they Babies' Clinic in Borden Street Oddfellows' Hall, November 30. could be conducted without getting people, especially children, all fussed up and excited over it.

Just at present the possibility of an epidemic is one of the most popular topics of conversation among school children. It was the case also early in the year. There is no doubt that many young minds are dwelling too much on the prospect of rashes and other symptoms. Since the power of the subconscious mind is so generally admitted these days, it does seem rather foolish to ignore it in this way and let fear and panic prepare the ground for the very thing we want to stamp

That is why I feel your warning s so timely just now. The very efforts bing put forth to combat the trouble are likely to cause its development in some cases.

We could not help much to save threatened dyke if we piled up andbags with one hand and bored hole through the dyke with the other. Yet suggestion will let in the enemy just as surely as the hole would let in the water. Some of we folk have seen this happen too often to doubt it. We don't for noment want to slacken in the war against disease but fear and panic and morbid thought are traitors who will betray, not aid, our cause, paign we want health as the chief day. President W. L. Coates was object of concentration, not the in the chair and there was a good attendance of members with a few symptons of disease. If only we could find a way to guests. convince all that health is really more thrilling than spots and rash- popopopopo es! What about a yearly certificate to every child who has passed the term without an infections complaint? That would do for a start. The rules could be made more exlusive as time went on. Why not nake health a commendable con-! a dition and admit that there is $ credit due to those who preserve

And while doing all in our power! o support the visible means of protection, it surely only can aid the cause to admit the power of thought and the desirability of thought control. Thoughts are things and, although these elusive dynamics are not easily controlled, can be done by effort and practice and their power used for the contemplation and ultimate production of health and strength and
