Harvey Firestone Capitalized Interest-His Rise to Fame and Wealth

DETROIT, Feb. 8: (AP)-Interest manifested by the people of Detroit in a rubber-tired buggy, which he was demonstrating, convinced Harvey S. Firestone, who died in Florida Monday, of the dawning of a new industry.

That was in the early '90's. The noiseless feature of the vehicle at once appealed to all. Some with broadened vision of the possibilities of the new idea realized the shockabsorbing qualities of the rubber tire as compared with the steel band in general use on the wheels of all vehicles.

Up to the time of the demonstration, Mr. Firestone was concerned about the rubber tires principally as a means of selling more buggies, in which he then was engaged as sales manager. But it occurred to METLAKATLA him that the success of rubber METLAKATLA tires on buggies was merely a forerunner of their use on wagons and other vehicles, and he decided to devote himself to tires.

He established his business in Chicago and with the advent of the automobile, impetus was given to the manufacture of rubber tires. In stone clung to his belief that evenon rubber tires.

After holding that position six munity. months, Mr. Firestone sold his inized the Firestone Tire and Rubber | rush Company. The new business was! set up in a made over machine shop, with a force of 17 men. With the rapid growth of the automobile industry, the rubber tire business grew apace and the Firestone plant was expended periodically until in the boom years of the World War it employed more than ! 20,000 persons. The company, of which Mr. Firestone was president, was one of the largest of its kind; Mayor Pattullo, discussing city; ongregation stayed to dance. and he came to be recognized as financial affairs, announced that one of the world leaders in the this year's council will have to manufacture of tires.

He switched to the coal business as bookkeeper for a Columbus firm and later returned to salesmanship; with the buggy company that eventually led him into the tire bus-

In November, 1895, Mr. Firestone married Idabella Smith of Jackson, Mich. They had five sons and a daughter.

For several years Mr. Firestone and his intimate friends, Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, spent part of their vacations together in camping parties and trips. They were accompanied on some occaslions by the late President Harding.
