TELLS OF LIFE IN ITALY

The London Spectator recently published a letter from an English resident in Italy which, while admitting the splendid improvements that had been made in Italy, tells stories of individuals who have found the country under the present regime a most unpleasant place in which to live. The son of a resident returning from France wrote his father that he would be home just in time to vote in this "comic" election. The letter was opened and the lad was sent to jail. Another case was of a hotel which served particularly good meals, so good that Fascist officials liked to eat there but refused to pay. The result was the hotel man was forced out of business. Another man operating a mill was visited by an official of the Labor Bureau who insisted that twenty men he named should be put on the payroll. He had to give up owing to continued interference from officials. Another man had his farm taken away from him because it was charged he was not working it to advantage. Yet the next man who operated the farm did not increase the production. The writer of the letter said he was sitting outside a cafe one evening when a Fascist official called and inquired why there was no orchestra playing. The owner of the business said he could not afford one. "Well, get one within a week," was the order. An orchestra was secured but the cafe went broke.

This writer says he feels sure there are millions of Italians who loathe and detest the methods of the present regime. From the beginning it has been a question of force and blackmail. He says the officials of the Fascist party would be incapable of earning a living in the open market. They must, therefore, stick to their posts at all costs. Propaganda talk about unity and co-operation sound well but what matters, he says, is the reality behind the talk.

THE OTHER SIDE

Having read stories in Red journals about the hardships which Canadians have suffered in this country, we feel a little suspicious and do not give credence to all the talk about injustices in Italy. Yet we can easily see that there must be very grave injustices where so much power is placed in the hands of officials as seems to be given to the Fascists in Italy. We have almost wept at the terrible tales told of wrong-doing in Canada, only to find that the person supposed to be wronged was a waster who never spoke well of any person and who should have been treated much more severely instead of more leniently. In enforcing a new system there are bound to be injustices, as witness what took place and still takes place in Russia under the dictatorship of Stalin and his proletariat. All dictatorships are objectionable.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN'S WARNING

Evidently the speech in the House of Commons yesterday in which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the world that, if the peace talks with Italy and Germany failed, Great Britain would speed up her gigantic rearmament program, was intended as a warning to those countries. Already there had been rumors of disagreements with Italy over withdrawal from Spain and other rumors that Italy had no intention of agreeing to and carrying out any terms that did not suit her.

GOOD VISIT MAY NOT AT PREMIER COMPETE

Banquet Friday Night and Dance On Saturday Were Features Of Entertainment For Local Hoop Team

The people of Premier as usual proved themselves fine hosts on the occasion of the visit there at the end of the week of the Prince Rupert basketball team for the first two games of the championship series, it is reported by Manager Bud Barrie and his party of hoopsters. Nothing was left undone in making the stay of the local players at the mining camp a pleasant one.

After the first game at Premier on Friday night there was a banquet. During Saturday there were various things of interest to do. The most of the party were guided through the mine by D. Sauterbane and Ted Kergin. Some later were taken on a drive to Stewart and others visited the B. C. Silver mine. A number of Prince Rupert boys now working at Big Missouri came over to Premier during the day. Saturday night after the second game there was a dance in the Community Hall after which the Prince Rupert team left Premier. The night was spent at Thirteen Mile and bright and early Sunday morning departure was made from there. Stewart was left at 10 a.m. Sunday and home reached at midnight.

Premier won the first game of the series at Premier Friday night by defeating Prince Rupert with a score of 69 to 46. The Prince Rupert players were off form due to the long fourteen-hour gasboat trip. They had arrived at Stewart at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The party was met by cars from Premier and taken straight to the mine, arriving there not long before game time.

It was a fast game and there was a large crowd in attendance. An amusing incident of the game was when Sonny Stiles of Prince Rupert walked on the floor and scored on a free throw for Premier after Lambie had been dismissed for four personals.

The Prince Rupert team had become quite at home by Saturday night and put up a much better game to win 44 to 37 and even up the series. It was a nip and tuck game until Prince Rupert started to pull out in front near the end. The closeness of the play in these two games augurs well for an exciting pair of games to be played here in the return series on April 1 and 2.

In addition to those previously mentioned, Jimmy Ciccone was among those who made the trip

Jap War Minister Would Not Let His Men Compete in Olympics, Cancelling of Which he Urges.

TOKYO, March 8: (CP)—War Minister Sugiyama yesterday announced that Japanese soldiers on the active list would be prohibited from participating in the 1940 Olympic Games. Sugiyama also advocated the cancellation of the games which are scheduled to be held in Tokyo.

The organizing committee of the 1940 Olympics answered War Minister Sugiyama's recommendation that the Games be cancelled by announcing a $1,500,000 building program.

Whether or not the games will be held in Tokyo will probably depend, in the end, on the response of the nations.

IDEAL OF PACIFIC

British Columbia Likes Grace In Kitchen as Well as On Tennis Court and Dance Floor

By John Dauphinee Canadian Press Staff Writer VANCOUVER, March 8: (CP)—The sweetheart of British Columbia has blue eyes, a light complexion and chestnut hair, but above all she has plenty of "spark."

This is the ideal projected today by Ian Eisenhardt, director of the provincial government's department of physical education, which has 10,000 women in its classes throughout the province.

Eisenhardt said British Columbians are as appreciative of aesthetic lines as most people, but they place more emphasis on a quality of being "interesting to look at" or, being more intensely and vividly alive.

To conform with this ideal, according to Eisenhardt, a girl would be fairly accomplished in two or three games, preferably golf, tennis and swimming. These sports he said, are aids to beauty but are not strenuous enough to cause "big, ugly muscles." British Columbia's mild climate gives its daughters a better chance to excel in these sports than is allotted to girls of other provinces.

Should be Natural Eisenhardt said he himself, and probably most citizens of the province, have an aversion to "unnaturalness of any kind."

They want a girl who is able to converse intelligently on almost any subject, and who is equally as graceful in the pantry as on the tennis court or the dance floor.

In other words, British Columbians insist that their dream girls be able to cook, "not just use a can opener," Eisenhardt declared.
