MELBOURNE, Au. 23 (CP)-This Australian city of 1,000,000 population remains one of the few large cities in the world which has not a properly constituted otwn-planning authority, the Denby world survey points out.

The Amsterdam housing department employs 15 specially-trained women estate managers who do social work and carry out inspec tions. In Sweden, too, the inspection of dwellings for structural defects is done by a specially-qualified staff of women.

In Stockholm, Sweden, the health department maintains an isolation home containing 40 beds, which is used mainly when dwellings need fumigating. And in Amsterdam special block of flats is used for the education of people who have pro-

Game Fish Control In British Columbia

The general sporting public, espicially those interested in the art of angling, will no doubt be interested in hearing of the work being undertaken by the Game Commission in respect to its game fish culture policies. Since the first of the year, the Province has assumed control of its sport or inland fisheries. which were formerly under the jurisdiction of the Dominion.

Many hatcheries and eyeing stations formerly operated by the Dominion have been taken over and are at present in operation; the result of this work being that by the end of the year there will have been liberated approximately 13 million trout as eyed eggs, fry or fingerlings in various sections of British Columbia.

Besides this, a large number of stranded salmon and trout fry have been transferred from pools of water adjacent to rivers and liberated again in the main streams so that they might have a chance to survive. Each year owing to the drying up of the water this rescue work is necessary.
