BRITAIN INDUSTRIALLY

Those who imagine that Great Britain is losing in the industrial world are being misled by propaganda coming from other countries. During the year ending September 30 there was an increase of ten per cent in motor construction in that country and considerable of this was manufactured for export. Both exports and imports increased. Coal sales were up and the number of unemployed has decreased considerably, both in the coal regions and in the heavy industries. The only weak spot has been in the cotton and woolen industries in which there was a slight recession.

Great preparations are being made for the Empire Exhibition at Glasgow. The Palace of Engineering has been erected of steel on a block which has an area of two and a quarter acres. The work was done by fifty men in three months.

While, doubtless, part of the prosperity has been due to the speeding up of defense schemes, overseas orders for forty-two new locomotives are being filled for delivery to South Africa. Sixty new trolley buses go to the same part of the world. Italy has been buying a large hydrogenation plant and, during the year, a million dollars worth of cotton goods has been shipped to Iran.

One of the newer developments has been the construction of a glass train which is now making a tour of Britain showing the uses to which glass may be put. The train itself was manufactured almost wholly from glass.

A new pulp mill is planned for Cumberland costing approximately six million dollars and which it is thought will employ eight hundred men.

A new calcium carbide plant is to be erected at Port Talbot to cost five million dollars. Unused fabric mills are to be reopened in the north for the manufacture of rayon and a new rayon factory is nearing completion in Lancashire which it is expected will employ from five to six thousand operatives.

Taken all in all, the present outlook in that country is a healthy one with increased business and increased employment being recorded everywhere, especially in the north and in Wales.

MONEY MORE PLENTIFUL

Considering the time of year, money seems rather more plentiful this year than at any time since 1930. According to general reports there is a greater readiness to pay accounts and one large account paid up often means the liquidation of a dozen or more other accounts. The moment somebody pays it enables somebody else to pay and the chain is almost endless. The erection of the post office will bring some new money into town that will help in the general liquidation.

AIDED ARMY LADIES' FUND MUCH BOWLING

Sum of $298.35 Realized From Radio Auction—Business at Meeting of Junior Chamber

The recent radio auction conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the benefit of the Salvation Army Christmas relief fund realized the gratifying sum of $298.35, it was reported at the regular monthly meeting of the Junior Chamber last night by George Rorie chairman of the committee in charge of the undertaking. Appreciation was expressed to the committee and all within and without the Chamber who had assisted in the project.

Another Christmas activity of the Junior Chamber had been the decorating of lamp standards and the community Christmas Tree on Third Avenue. The committee headed by Lawrence Pierce having this work in hand was congratulated and appreciation was expressed to merchants whose donations had made possible the illumination of the tree.

The Junior Chamber had contemplated having a dance in January or February but, after some discussion, it was decided to defer the affair until immediately after Easter.

A. W. Newman reported on recent activity of the Peace River outlet committee.

The University of British Columbia extension lecture committee, of which G. P. Lyons is chairman, reported that Dr. Harry Warren would be here January 19 and 20 to give lectures on "Can I Make Money With Mining Stocks?" and "An Engineer Looks at Modern Education."

A special committee named to answer a questionnaire from the Rowell Royal Commission on inter-governmental relations is preparing to send in its answer.

Mail Service

The President, J. C. Gilker, who was in the chair, brought up the matter of postal service here, more particularly in regard to possibility of a more satisfactory street pick-up and box distribution at night. Jack Bulger was delegated to interview the Postmaster.

The President also offered the suggestion that all goods made in Canada should be labelled "Made in Canada" whether for export or otherwise. In Great Britain this had proven most efficacious advertising. The suggestion was referred to committee with a view to presenting it to the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada.

In view of other activities of members conflicting with the first Tuesday of the month, it was decided that, for the next two or three months, regular monthly meetings of the Chamber should be held on the second Thursdays of the month. The monthly executive meeting will take place on the first Thursday.

Members of the Junior Chamber were reminded that all were invited to attend the annual dinner meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce this Friday night. It was decided that the Senior Chamber should be asked to name an official representative at all Junior Chamber regular meetings.

The President re-appointed C. G. Ham as the Junior Chamber's representative on the museum board and T. J. Williams on the library board.

R. G. Van der Sluys was named official delegate of the Junior Chamber to the forthcoming annual meeting of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association.

Correspondence before the meeting last night included a letter drawing attention to the convention in Vancouver on February 11 and 12 of the Northwest Aviation Planning Council and a letter from the chairman of the national committee of the Junior chamber of Commerce on civil service.

MASSETT

The Native Sisterhood of Massett held a successful social on Monday night of last week in the Community Hall. Oliver Adams gave a report on the recent annual convention of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia at Bella Bella. There was also an address by Alfred Adams, president of the Native Brotherhood. Chief William Matthews thanked the delegates to the convention on behalf of Massett village.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGER

Interest Being Taken in Annual Week of Prayer in Prince Rupert

Increased attendance marked the second meeting last night of the annual Week of Prayer in Prince Rupert. The meeting last night was held in First Baptist Church with Capt. Ivan Halsey of the Salvation Army in charge. Capt. Halsey, basing his remarks in the first chapter of Hebrews, spoke on the subject of Faith. Singing of old familiar hymns was a feature of the meeting.

Tonight's meeting will be in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral with Rev. E. E. Brandt, pastor of First Baptist Church, in charge and speaking on "Obedience."

TERRACE

Mrs. Stewart of Prince Rupert is visiting in Terrace with her mother, Mrs. E. Cole, and the family.

Mrs. E. Noslin is paying a holiday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doll of Terrace.

Ralph Skinner is home from the University of British Columbia for the holiday season.

URGES PRINCE RUPERT TO EXERT ITSELF

development of the province and the foundation of the cities of Vancouver and Victoria.

"What mining has done for the south, mining can and will do for the north," asserted Dr. Mandy. "We have a great mineral area tributary to Prince Rupert awaiting development. There are also coal and oil resources. We have every good reason to be optimistic."

The speaker then turned to a brief review of the history of mining in northwestern British Columbia. In 1873 gold had been discovered in the Cassiar. In 1898 had come the Klondyke and Atlin discoveries, later Portland Canal, Allee Arm and Anyox. Closer still to Prince Rupert were the discoveries and developments of Queen Charlotte Islands and Surf Inlet; more recently, Surf Point, and, latest of all, Tulsequah. All this was only a beginning but it had brought business, revenue and traffic to Prince Rupert.

Dr. Mandy concluded with his appeal to the members of the Junior Chamber to play their part in seeing that recognition was obtained for the natural resources of this district and their development brought about so that the city might progress and prosper.

More PEP More POWER

Better Motor Performance

THE "KING" TESTER

That is what you will have after we have gone over your car with our "KING" Tester, which is the last word in equipment for diagnosing motor trouble.

Very often the difference between a slow motor and a PEPPY one is only a matter of minor and inexpensive adjustments. It doesn't take much to put a high speed motor "out of line," but it does take special equipment to locate the trouble so that it can be remedied. We have the finest equipment obtainable and it eliminates all GUESS WORK. Bring your car in and get PEP for the get-away and POWER for the hills.
