OUT UNDER THE TREES

Nearly every year we get letters from campers telling how good Pacific Milk tastes out in the open under the trees. So far it's a little early but we expect word, for some person, nearly every season, comes to prefer Pacific Milk from an enjoyable vacation spent camping outdoors.

From The Waterfront

C. P. R. steamer Prince Robert, which was in port from 9:30 to 6 o'clock yesterday northbound from Sitka and Skagway to Vancouver, will make one more alternating Alaska cruise this season after which she will make a voyage on special charter with a National Life Assurance Association party of 350 persons originating in Chicago and Minneapolis. On this special voyage, the Prince Robert will leave Vancouver August 23 and be due here August 25 northbound to Alaska. Coming south she will not call at Prince Rupert but run straight through from Ketchikan to Victoria.

There were 190 passengers aboard the steamer Princess Louise which was in port Saturday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver. Three persons disembarked from the vessel here and a like number took passage from this port for the south aboard her.

Northland Transportation Co. motorship Northland, Capt. Len Williams, arrived in port at 6 o'clock last evening from Alaska and, after discharging two carloads of fish for transhipment East over Canadian National Railways, sailed at 8 p.m. in continuation of her voyage to Seattle.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver and sailed a couple of hours later for Skagway and other Alaska points. The vessel had on board a full list of passengers, the most of them being round trip Alaska tourists. In all there were 190 persons on board including 18 who disembarked here. Two went aboard here for the north.

Having been delayed with heavy freights at waypoints, Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, arrived in port at 1:30 this morning from the south and sailed a couple of hours later for Stewart, Anyox and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow afternoon southbound.

Having been delayed by fog, C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. Edward Mabie, arrived in port at 11:30 this morning from Skagway and other Alaska points and sails at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Vancouver via Ocean Falls and Powell River. The vessel brought in 138 passengers including six who disembarked here.

The Ketchikan fish carriers Tongass and Venus arrived in port this morning and the Atlas is due tomorrow. Between them they have two carloads of fish for transhipment East over Canadian National Railways.

CRUISE WAS ENJOYABLE

Mr. and Mrs. Bartels of Vancouver Here After Alaska Trip

An interesting couple in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bartels arrived in Prince Rupert on Saturday on their yacht Undaunted and are leaving for Vancouver today on the return voyage south after an Alaska cruise.

The Undaunted was in Prince Rupert on June 21 when Mr. and Mrs. Bartels were north bound. In the intervening period they have visited places between here and Skagway, including several of the active glaciers. They saw plenty of bears in the creeks where the fish were running and have obtained some very interesting photographs.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Bartels were complete strangers in places north of Prince Rupert, at all towns they were royally entertained by new found friends.

At Wrangell they were entertained by Captain and Mrs. James Griffiths and Captain and Mrs. A. J. Harley on board the yacht [illegible] III. It so happened that that day was July 28, the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bartels.

At Prince Rupert they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. William Currie over the week-end and on Sunday were taken for a cruise on board Wm. Watts' yacht. Then Mrs. Watts and family provided a most enjoyable picnic spent at Digby Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartels are making a leisurely trip to Vancouver where they expect to arrive on September 1.

"White Banners" Opens At Capitol Theatre Tonight

Adapted from the novel by Lloyd C. Douglas, "White Banners" comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week with Claude Rains, Fay Bainter, Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville in the leading roles.

This unusual story is the third of Douglas novels to be made into a motion picture. The other two were "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light."

In the picture, as in the novel, the dominant character is the toil-worn woman peddler who comes into the household of the small-town school teacher, at a troublous time and devotes herself unselfishly to the service of the family.

The story of the picture deals mainly with the period in which the teacher invents an iceless icebox and then reaches its climax in the discovery by the woman that the adopted son of the town banker is her own child. What she does thereafter movingly illustrates the author's contention in behalf of the nobility of the human spirit.

The part of the [illegible] is played by Fay Bainter, long famous on the stage but only recently a recruit to motion pictures. Claude Rains, the teacher, his wife is played by Kay Johnson. Jackie Cooper is the youth and his girl friend is Bonita Granville. Other important roles are filled by Henry O'Neill, James Stephenson and J. Farrell McDonald.
