The conservative, spelt with a small "C", sees the evils of democracy and would use force to bring about a better condition through a dictatorship or padlock law. The people with liberal (small L") tendencies would use similar force to try to make people more liberal. In these, days we all tend to go to extremes.

DIFFERENCES OF OPINION

Recently an American newspaper with a large circulation published an article expressing appreciation of swing music. Immediately strong objection came from those who seemed to believe that all music except classical was of the devil. One person wrote to protest strongly against swing music, jazz and blues. We all have our likes and dislikes. Some people profess to admire the pictures of the old masters while others prefer the glaring colors of the poster or the eccentricities of the futurist. Some like to live on rich food while others prefer the plain living of our forefathers. In a newspaper some prefer sensation and others protest strongly against sensationalism. We are all different and yet we all have certain principles upon which we can agree. That is where toleration comes in.

STRUGGLE FOR TERRITORY

The border warfare between Soviet Russia and Manchuokuo seems to be a part of a struggle for territory. In the past when there have been clashes Japan has had the best of it because Russia did not want war. Now that Russia is better prepared and Japan is badly mixed up with China, Russia is much bolder and is fighting for every inch of territory. In this change of attitude is seen the danger of war. Japan is afraid to lose face so must fight or make an honorable settlement. Russia refuses a settlement on Japan's terms. The situation is rather interest-" ing. At any ordinary time very little notice would have been taken of a border dispute but just now a move was rather expected and it assumes importance.
