EXECUTIVE OF LEGION

J. S. Wilson Reports on Convention —Unemployment of Veterans Important Matter

The executive of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League met last evening in preparation for the monthly meeting of Wednesday. Vice President W. J. Rance was in the chair in the absence of President Jack Preece. Other members of the executive present were M. J. Dougherty, Henry Smith, J. M. Walker and H. T. Lock.

Two new applications for regular membership and one application for transfer were approved. Letters of thanks from the Officer Commanding of H.M.S. York for hospitality extended by the Branch and its members during the visit of the ship; from the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital for the use of clubrooms, and from Mrs. W. J. Service were read.

J. S. Wilson, who recently attended the convention of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, reported on some of the activities. There had been a record attendance of delegates, official and fraternal, and the sincerity of those in tackling the question of unemployment of employable ex-service men was always very evident. These efforts were not confined to the ex-service man only but were directed to the solution of the major problem of unemployment. The Legion recognized the claim of those who were too young to serve in the war. It was for them, even more than for themselves, that those who were now veterans had entered the war. However, the Legion held that the ex-service man who was in need should be the country's immediate and complete responsibility. The veteran did not fight for only one province. It was for Canada and the Empire. Canada must recognize her responsibility to the needy veteran. Accordingly, in bringing in its report on the situation, the employment and unemployment committee refrained from concentrating too much on parochial problems but tackled the matter on the very broadest possible basis. The report was worthy of careful attention.

It was as follows:

Th Report

"Your Unemployment Committee has carefully reviewed the various resolutions and reports on unemployment placed before it, and herewith submits for your consideration the following observations and resolutions:

"WHEREAS it is universally considered to be the duty of the citizen to protect the state whenever the state is in danger;

"And WHEREAS the ex-service man has already rendered that duty;

"And WHEREAS by the same process of reasoning it should be the duty of the state to bring all its resources to bear in aiding the citizen when his welfare is threatened;

"And WHEREAS there are thousands of unemployed ex-service men who are on the labor market in competition with an increasing number of much younger unemployed men;

"And WHEREAS it is generally recognized that private employers of labor operating in the present highly competitive economic system will quite naturally favor the employment of the younger men, thus reducing to a minimum the chances of the older ex-service men obtaining employment;

"THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that this convention emphatically protests against ex-service men being forced into the bread-line, and as a means of alleviating and relieving their immediate economic distress, insists that the recommendations of the Veterans' Assistance Commission be implemented forthwith and in full;

"And further be it resolved that this convention unanimously agrees that the stand taken at previous conventions of the Canadian Legion, namely, that unemployment is a national emergency, be again concurred in, and therefore it is the obvious duty of the federal government to use its resources to bring about a solution of this increasingly grave problem.

"And WHEREAS it is obvious that the only solution for unemployment is employment or superannuation;

"And WHEREAS due to technological and scientific developments it is becoming increasingly apparent that an adjustment of the hours of labor is necessary to effect a more equitable distribution of the work and wages available;

"THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the hours of labor shall be so adjusted and controlled that all the surplus labor now available shall speedily be absorbed.

As a means to this end we recommend the following:

"That the school age be raised to eighteen years, and that education be free until that age is reached.

"That a system of national insurance be instituted which shall cover sickness, accident, unemployment, superannuation and death, such insurance to be contributory and compulsory for all.

"That the maximum retiring age for all workers be set at fifty-five years.

That a permanent public works program be instituted by the Dominion government so that all labor may be utilized.

"And finally we urge the appointment of an economic council of experts who shall act as an advisory body to the Dominion Government to implement the preceding recommendations, and that the incoming executive be herewith instructed to take any and every means necessary and expedient to expedite the foregoing at the earliest possible moment.

"In its deliberations your employment and unemployment committee gave consideration to the report on unemployment and Legion organization by the Provincial Secretary, R. Macnichol, presented to the convention on August 4th, and it is recommended that the Provincial Secretary's report be adopted by the convention.

"It is also suggested, as a further means of assisting the implementation of the foregoing recommendations, that a standing sub-committee on unemployment be instituted, and we recommend that the personnel of such sub-committee be as follows: T. A. Barnard, J. Henderson, C. J. Martin."

Mr. Wilson, who was again elected zone representative, addressed the Ocean Falls branch on his way north after the convention.

PRESIDENT IN CANADA

Chief Executive of United States to Cross Line On Thursday

TORONTO, Ont., August 16—For the first time in history a president of the United States will travel through the Province of Ontario. While other ex-presidents have visited the province, it was in private capacity, but when President Franklin D. Roosevelt crosses the Canadian National Railways bridge at Niagara Falls in the early morn-hours of Thursday he will come as the Chief Executive of the great American Republic. H. C. Bourlier, general passenger agent of the Canadian National system, last night received word that the President's special, bound for Kingston where President Roosevelt will receive a degree of Doctor of Laws from Queens University prior to officiating with Prime Minister Rt. Hon. MacKenzie King in the opening of the new Thousand Islands International bridge, will be turned over to the National Railways by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Niagara Falls. From there the train will make a brief operating stop for a change of crews at Toronto and at Belleville for a change of locomotive crews. Otherwise a direct run will be made to Kingston.

The President's special consists of seven cars and will be hauled by one of the new Canadian National 6400 type locomotives—the biggest streamliners in the world. The traffic advice issued by the passenger department states that the number of the party will be 35 to 40, including aides, secretaries, secret service men, newspaper men and photographers. The train is equipped with an intra-train telephone system of communication and the President's private car "Marco Polo" will be placed at the end.

H. A. Karr, division passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Washington will be in charge of the movement, assisted by G. L. Bryson, district passenger agent Canadian National Washington.

Every precaution is being taken by the National System for the handling of the President's special on the second of the operating schedule. All tracks will be patrolled by special gangs of section men during the early morning hours and it will be met upon crossing the boundary line by Superintendent A. F. Sharpe, of the London division. Assistant Superintendent R. W. Cameron of Hamilton and Master Mechanic M. W. Sharpe of Toronto will ride the train from Niagara Falls to Toronto. From Toronto Assistant Superintendent W. K. Rogers of the Belleville division and Master Mechanic A. B. Saunderson of Belleville will ride the train to Kingston where it will be met by Superintendent O. W. Duff of the Belleville division.

The honor of driving the big locomotive and of operating the train will go to Hamilton and Belleville crews, all senior men of long service with National System.

WHIFFLETS

From The Waterfront

A specimen of what was at first thought to be a variety of porpoise known to North Sea fishermen as louper dog fish was brought here at the end of the week by William Sim. of Porcher Island and was turned over to the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station where it was later identified as an ordinary porpoise. The fish, measuring about three feet long, was caught in a gill net by Norman McLeod not far from Jap Inlet. Louper dog fish, while not rare in local waters, are very seldom taken as they live on the bottom and do not take bait.

Pilchard plants on the west coast of Vancouver Island are running to full capacity, according to word reaching here. Some two thousand tons of fish each was put up after two weeks of fishing by the Ucluelet, Toquart, Ecole and Kildonan plants. The fish are being caught off Cape Flattery and south to Destruction Island. It is quite a long way to pack them but they are plentiful.

Southbound from Stewart and Anyox to Vancouver, Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, is not expected in port until late this afternoon from the north. The vessel arrived at Wales Island cannery at 8 o'clock this morning and spent the morning there loading canned salmon.

Seining for pink salmon is now going on in Prince Rupert Harbor and fair catches are being made off McNicholl and Silver Creeks by two boats—Bill Rudlend's Spud and Johnny Haldane's Mildred. On the mainland generally the pink run continues fairly light while at Massett Inlet the fish have not yet shown up in any appreciable amount. Gillnetting in the Skeena and Naas Rivers, now in its final week, continues to fall off. Latest averages to be reported are 10 to 12 sockeye and about 80 pinks.

E. Ryan of Metlakatla was fined $150 in provincial police court by Stipendiary Magistrate Andrew Thompson Saturday afternoon for seining inside the boundaries of Khutzamateen Inlet.

Miss Florence MacDonald R.N., a graduate of the Vancouver General Hospital, has arrived here to become operating room supervisor at the Prince Rupert General Hospital in succession to Miss Annie Walker R.N. who resigned recently and has left for Montreal to take up more advanced nursing studies at McGill University.
