MORRISSEY'S STATEMENT

their pay checks, and by this time Alderman Morrissey was going over the pay roll. He found the timekeeper credited with 444 hours, but the City Clerk explained that this account was by error entered twice and passed in the hurry with which the accounts were gotten up to close the affairs of the old Council. Alderman Morrissey could not see how station men could get full time and other men 47 hours over full time when there were several rainy days that month.

The overtime was explained and then the Superintendent was allowed to speak. Alderman Morrissey in his report had stated that the office of superintendent was superfluous, but the popularity of Mr. McNeil was evidenced in the fact that several members spoke of the effect upon his reputation the suggestion of a padded pay roll must have. He tackled this point himself and urged the fullest investigation, as the odium of the suggestion that the pay rolls were padded fell directly upon him. Also, in the event of the pay rolls being found regular he asked Alderman Morrissey to use his influence with The News to have this put in as big type as "One Hundred Missing Men" was printed in.

There were other minor inaccuracies found in the pay roll, which the City Clerk excused on account of the hurry of preparation, one of $181 instead of $81 being among them.

Alderman Montgomery said they were all blacklisted, including the Council, Superintendent McNeil and other officials by the publication of Alderman Morrissey's statement. He was perfectly satisfied that the clause was absolutely without foundation and that it should be thrown out of the report.

Alderman Bullock-Webster said it had been the means of some mistakes being discovered in the pay roll and he thought they might with profit pursue the matter further.

The Mayor said if there were irregularities it was the duty of Alderman Morrissey and every other alderman to call attention to them, and he thought Alderman Morrissey justified. He now thought they could well afford to pass a motion fully exonerating all those directly or indirectly implicated, and that they might postpone further discussion of the subject until Monday evening.

The discussion was continued, however, by Alderman Morrissey, Kerr, Douglas, Clayton, Maitland and Montgomery, and ended in the passage of a motion to the effect that the Council had thoroughly gone into the matter of the shortage of men; that the records produced by the City Clerk accounted for the shortage satisfactorily, and the Council felt it was only justice to the officials of the city to place that fact upon the records.

This was moved by Alderman Morrissey, seconded by Alderman Montgomery, and passed without a dissenting voice.

NO SETTLEMENT

Council Met W. J. Morgan, but Without Practical Result.

An effort to adjust matters between the city and Contractor W. J. Morgan, who asks for payment of his account for grading subsection H 1 of the city, was made last night. No definite conclusion of the matter by a tired Council which had already sat for about five hours in the afternoon. A proposition made that the account be settled at $4,000, through the amount was considered small by Mr. Morgan, might have been settled on had there been a full board present. The matter is held over.

The Kelly Townsite

SO CALLED

Officially Known and Registered as

New Hazelton

The vigorous justice of the Canadian Railway Commission has established New Hazelton as a city of commanding importance in British Columbia.

Through the efforts of Pringle & Guthrie, solicitors at Ottawa for the Northern Interior Land Company, Limited, and Mr. Robt. Kelly's vigorous fight for the "square deal," the name of Mr. Kelly has been connected with that of the new city.

Mr. Kelly owns Section 2 of the so-called "Kelly" townsite, or, as it is officially known and registered, the townsite of New Hazelton. Sections 1 and 3 of the townsite is the property of the Northern Interior Land Company, Limited.

This company is composed of a number of leading business men of Northern British Columbia, who are right on the ground and who are thoroughly in touch with conditions. From their many years of experience and thorough knowledge they selected the present townsite of New Hazelton, or, as it has been named by some, the "Kelly" townsite, as the strategic location for the new metropolis of the north.

This in itself would fully establish public confidence in the new city. If further confirmation of the importance and stability of New Hazelton be required, it is supplied by the additional fact that Robt. Kelly, known throughout Canada by reason of his wide business interests, has $100,000 invested there. Where such hardheaded business men lead you need not fear to follow. Be sure you get into the Mercantile Centre—Section 1.

The stability of New Hazelton, or the so-called "Kelly" townsite—either name as you prefer—is absolutely established by the emphatic decision of the Canadian Railway Commission.

New Hazelton, sometimes called the "Kelly" townsite, starts with a big lead on all the other towns along the Grand Trunk Pacific. For it has a monthly payroll of from $150,000 to $200,000 N.W. This will likely be increased from time to time.

Moreover, there are 1,000 people in the immediate vicinity—the citizens of old Hazelton—who MUST establish themselves in New Hazelton in the early spring, because regular train service to Prince Rupert will then be established.

Besides, thousands of outside people will flock into New Hazelton in the early spring, because train service to Prince Rupert will then be established.

Besides, thousands of outside people will flock into New Hazelton in the early spring, which should make it a thriving city of 3,000 to 4,000 people before 1912 closes.

Think of this development. It is not of the future. It is of the present—now. And to the future of New Hazelton you can set no bounds. Buy in the Mercantile section—Section 1.

The shrewd factors of the Hudson's Bay Company put Hazelton on the map before you were born. They saw it to be the logical commercial centre for the great interior portion of British Columbia. You know how successful they have been in locating the great cities of Western Canada—Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton. Their unerring judgment is being proved again in the case of New Hazelton.

South, east, north and west of the new city stretches a territory having a radius of hundreds of miles, filled with coal, silver, copper and other minerals. Capital is already busy developing these resources. Millions of acres of rich fruit and farming lands lie within the same radius. These are already being occupied by actual settlers.

To develop these virgin fields branch railway lines must be built. Just as old Hazelton has been the greatest pack train outfitting centre in the world, so will New Hazelton be one of, if not the most, important railway distributing and general commercial centre of British Columbia. Don't make any mistake, Section 1 is the Mercantile centre. Buy there for big profits.

$60,000 was the price paid in Calgary the other day for a lot that cost $500 a few years ago. You see examples like this without number in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Edmonton—or any thriving western city.

What are you going to do about the new city of the north? There is just one registered townsite of "New Hazelton," whatever other names it may be known by, whether it be Taylorville, the "Kelly" townsite or New Hazelton.

We, the Northern Interior Land Company, Limited, own Section 1, the Mercantile centre, and Section 3, the residential section. The station grounds and sidings are located partly on Section 2 and partly on Section 1. See official maps and blue prints.

To make the situation perfectly clear, we may again emphasize the fact that the townsite registered consisted of Lot 863, Lot 882, the Taylor section and Lot 885. Because of the previous ownership of Mr. Taylor the new town is sometimes called Taylorville in the north. Because of the celebrity given to New Hazelton by the Railway Commission it has also been dubbed the "Kelly" townsite. But these names all apply to the same townsite—the registered townsite of New Hazelton.

There were only two townships of the land to start with, that of the Northern Interior Land Company, Limited, and that of Robert Kelly, of Kelly, Douglas & Co. The property of the Northern Interior Land Company, Limited, consisted of Lot 863 and Lot 885, or Sections 1 and 3 of the Townsite of New Hazelton. Mr. Kelly's property consists of Lot 882, or Section 2 of the townsite.

Section 2 is adapted for railroad purposes, and as the Railway Commission has decreed that the depot shall be maintained on this section, it seems probable that Section 2 will be the railway portion of the new city. We want you to know, however, that the station grounds and sidings are partly on Section 1, our property.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the best retail and general business centre of any city is some little distance from the depot, and from the railway sidings particularly. New Hazelton promises to be no exception to this rule.

Many of the merchants and business men of old Hazelton have bought property and will locate on Section 1. In fact, three-quarters of the buildings now erected are on this section. And we must necessarily defer to the decision of the people on the spot, for they are in the best position to judge.

What are you going to do about New Hazelton? Never again in Vancouver, Calgary or Winnipeg will there be opportunities like this of the early days. The opportunities have moved to New Hazelton. And they will move early away from there, so far as you are concerned, unless you act quickly.

The prices have been put purposely low at the start. The price of lots in Sections 1 and 2 is about what prevail in new and unknown towns. New Hazelton will have 1,000 to 1,500 people at the start. Yet some of our best corners are going at a third the prices that are paid in other towns of the same population.

In a few months the first whistle will toll for New Hazelton station. Your lot should double in value by that time. The price of lots in Sections 1 and 3 range from $100 to $1,200 each. These prices are for today only, and are liable to change without notice.

The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and he a new man.

The treatment consists of the internal administration of a harmless remedy, tonic in its action, that removes the craving for liquor in a very few hours.
