DUNNE AND FAIRBANKS

Diverting Comedy With Music is Feature Offering at Capitol Theatre This Wee-end

With a fine cast headed by Irene Dunne and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., "Joy of Living," feature picture at the Capitol Theatre this week-end, presents a new theme for a comedy with music. The principals in the picture are two contrasting characters—one a popular musical comedy star who is constantly in debt owing to the extravagant demands of a selfish family, the other a forthright sort of playboy who has broken away from his wealthy family to enjoy life as he sees fit. Certain that her parents and sister love her in spite of their faults Miss Dunne indignantly quarrels with Fairbanks when he urges that she leave the relatives shift for themselves and have a good time herself before it is too late. The story then proceeds along a unique path marked by arguments, reconciliations and a charming romance. There are a number of unique and entertaining episodes.

Miss Dunne's talents as a comedienne and singer are fully used. A number of tuneful songs by Jerome Kern are introduced into the picture. In the supporting cast are such favorites as Alice Brady, Joan Dixon, Guy Kibbee, Eric Blore, Lucille Ball and Warren Hymer.

Address Of Dean Armitage Proved Very Interesting

The address at the weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday was given by Very Rev. Ramsay Armitage, Dean of Christ Church Cathedral at Vancouver, who took as his subject "Myosis." The meaning of the word he explained was a faculty of understatement. On this continent people were used to hearing overstatements of nearly everything but in England they were accustomed to understatements from such men as former Premier Stanley Baldwin. He quoted one outstanding example of this in the case of Otis, the explorer who was with Scott at the South Pole. When he found that he was an embarrassment to the others and might endanger their return, he remarked: "I am going out and I may be some little time." Of course, he did not return.

Applying the title of the address to the Rotary Club, the father of all service clubs, the Dean said he hoped they would look upon the word "service" in its myotic sense. They would not be able to say how much they were really doing. If service was their motto, life would be an amazing thing full of adventure. Members of the club said that service was the rent they paid for their occupancy on earth.

The speaker went on to tell of a wonderful poem written by Owen, Seman, editor of Punch, a copy of which he had written in the handwriting of the author. One verse was left out and it was explained that, in transcribing, Mr. Seman had omitted it because it might give pain to a former enemy. The Dean read the poem and commented on it most interestingly. The address was filled with bright and pithy anecdote and was much enjoyed.

Visitors at the luncheon included Rotarian W. N. Kelley of Vancouver; Rev. Canon T. D. Proctor of Dawson Creek, Frank Burrell of Hazelton, Dr. R. G. Large, W. H. Wilson-Murray and W. Joy.

SESSIONS OF SYNOD

Reception on Wednesday Night Was Interesting Event—Reports Presented Show Progress Of Church Work

One of the features of the proceedings in connection with the sessions of the eighteenth Caledonia diocesan synod of the Anglican Church here this week was the reception on Wednesday night in the Cathedral Hall when all the delegates had the opportunity to mingle in a social way. Very Rev. Ramsay Armitage, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, and Miss F. O. Philpoe of Vancouver, western vice-president of the Dominion Women's Auxiliary, were the speakers of the evening, the addresses on both occasions being interesting and diverting. The large audience roundly applauded both speakers.

Business sessions of the synod included the receiving of a number of important reports. Rev. J. E. Birchall of Smithers told of the splendid work of the general board of religious education in the church throughout Canada. Rev. C. A. Hinchcliffe of Terrace presented an excellent account of the way in which the church was facing up to the social problems of the day through the work of the council for social service.

Rev. J. M. McCormick of Fort Fraser gave a stimulating paper covering the work of evangelization within the church over the past twenty-five years and made special reference to the efforts of the church in Canada to meet the present situation in which apathy and opposition seemed everywhere present.

The Indian workers also gave moving testimony to the value of the church's ministrations among them.

Yesterday afternoon the synod was engaged in a long distance discussion of diocesan matters.

This morning the final session of the synod was held with the consideration of financial problems.
