Tag Day For Soldiers' Graves

Annual Canvass By Queen Mary Chapter Tomorrow

In the early years following the Armistice, the necessity arose of caring for the graves of returned soldiers in Prince Rupert who had served their country during the Great War. Therefore, Adair Cars Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, formed in November, 1917, and named in memory of a gallant Canadian from Prince Rupert who fell in France, inaugurated the Soldiers' Graves Committee, headed by the late Mrs. Charles Youngman, then Regent of the Chapter. This devoted band of workers carried on faithfully through the years until the disbanding of the chapter when the work was taken up by Queen Mary Chapter whose charge it now is.

With the passing of years more and more of the ex-service men have joined the Great Majority until there are now fifty-three graves in the Soldiers' Plot at Fairview, each marked with a lasting headstone, placed by the graves committee, whose work also consists of arranging an annual Decoration Day, in conjunction with the Canadian Legion and the Women's Auxiliary, when a service is held at the cemetery and flowers, flags and poppies placed on the graves and at the cenotaph and of holding an annual Tag Day, its only means of revenue for the carrying on of this work.

This year the soldiers' graves committee has chosen April 9, Vimy Day, the anniversary of the most outstanding victory of Canadian forces during the Great War for their tag day.

Sees Possibilities Of Local Industry Being Established

The possible future industrial development of Prince Rupert was discussed at the regularly weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday by Professor A. B. Recknagel of Cornell University.

There were so many visitors that President McAfee omitted the formality of individual introductions except in the case of President J. C. Gilker of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and R.C. St. Clair, district forester. Paul Armour who had been away as a result of illness, was welcomed back.

In the course of his address Professor Recknagel urged that there be a co-operative effort to capitalize the forest possibilities and at the close he read from a Vancouver newspaper an editorial article which indicated that the new minister of industries, Hon. W. J. Assestine, would be taking steps to see that these were developed.
